CONGRESS ROUGHS UP IKE

School Classes To Resume in Area on Tuesday

More Than 17,000 Students Enrolled in District Schools

More than 17,000 students will return to classes at elementary and secondary schools in the district on Tuesday.

For most of them, opening day will be a short one. Studies will begin in earnest on Wednesday.

Of the nine school districts in this area, Monessen will have the largest enrollment — 3,220 students, an increase of about 160 over last year.

Both Bellmarette and Rostraver Twp. anticipate "slightly more" students this year. Bellmarette expects to handle 2,400 students while Rostraver has made arrangements for 2,100.

Classes at all Monessen public schools will convene at 11 a.m. on opening day.

Regular Schedule

At Bellmarette schools, pupils will report on Tuesday at their regularly assigned time. However they will be dismissed after the morning session.

The procedure will be reversed at Rostraver where buses will begin picking up students at 11:45 a.m. for an afternoon session only.

The curtailed classes will permit teachers meetings at the respective school districts.

A slight decline in public school enrollment is anticipated in Charleroi, Monongahela and Donora because of the current erection of a large Catholic High School in Carroll Twp.

Although the Catholic High building will not be ready until the 1958-59 term, parochial schools in the three communities have added ninth grades for the coming year. This will enable a sophomore class to move directly to the new high school.

Enrollment Figures

Charleroi is anticipating an enrollment of 2,200; Donora, 1,800; and Monongahela, 2,280.

Here are the expected enrollment figures for other district schools Perry-Lower Tyrone, 1,460; West Newton, 1,000; South Huntingdon, 1,400.

All schools, with the exception of those in South Huntingdon, will begin Tuesday. South Huntingdon pupils already have a week of classes to their credit.

District parochial schools will also begin next Tuesday with St. Leonard, Holy Name and St. Hyacinth accepting students in Monessen and St. Sebastian opening its doors in Belle Vernon.

Glick to Face Eight Charges Next Week

William Glick, former Charleroi businessman, is scheduled to face eight separate charges of fraudulent conversion when Washington County Criminal Court convenes next week.

The first case involving Miller will come up for trial next Thursday. Each of the seven remaining charges will be tried separately, according to information from the district attorney's office.

Glick is the former vice-president and sales agent for the Crown Sales Co. and Crown Construction Co., both of Charleroi.

Action against Glick, accused of fraudulent conversion charges which total $25,000, has been pending for several months. He had been a patient at Veterans Administration Hospital near Aspinwall, accounting for the delay.

In several of the cases, Simon Felser, president of the two Charleroi firms, has been named as a co-defendant. Felser, however, is one of the accusers of Glick in other indictments and he was named only in allegations resulting from customer complaints.

Community Fund Directors Named; Two Reelected

William J. Huston, Mrs. Margaret Schilling and Daniel Myshin have been elected to three-year terms on the Monessen Community Fund Board of Directors, it was announced today.

John Abernethy, chairman of the election committee, disclosed the results of the 1957 voting which has been under way for the past several days at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Huston and Mrs. Schilling were reelected directors while Myshin was named for his first term. They were picked from among five candidates.

In effect, Myshin replaced James Kirk, who has moved to Uniontown.

The nine-member Board will meet on Friday in the Chamber of Commerce office beginning at 7 p.m. for the annual reorganization.

Current officers concluding their terms are Mrs. Schilling, president; John G. Check, Jr., vice-president; Huston, treasurer; and George Cieply, secretary.

Mayor Parente Home from Coast

Monessen Mayor Hugo Parente has returned home after a vacation trip to the West Coast.

The mayor arrived in the city Thursday in time to appear in the parade sponsored by the Monessen Volunteer Firemen.

County Voter Registrations

Democrats piled up a 2-1 advantage over the Republicans in new voter registration in Westmoreland County boroughs earlier in the week.

With all reports in from the special registrations in 35 boroughs, the County Registration Office today reported that 562 signed as Democrats and 282 as Republicans. Four other registered as independents.

Next Wednesday, new registrations will be accepted from 9 p.m. in Monessen and from 1 to 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. in Rostraver Twp.

'Right-to-know' Laws Will Become Effective Tomorrow

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state's new "right-to-know" law goes into operation Sunday, climaxing a long fight by newspaper organizations for access to records and meetings of interest to the public.

The companion measures require that municipal bodies and some key state agencies have open deliberations and keep their files available for public inspection.

Numerous tests are expected of the new laws, particularly by newsmen. A tipoff was given this week on the effect of the laws when the General State Authority, one of the agencies coming under its provisions, held what was heralded as an "open meeting" prior to the effective date of the bills.

Reporters flocked to the meeting of the state's borrow-build agency because it was slated to allocate 50 million dollars in additional borrowing power. The 12-member authority never did get around to the 50 million dollars and handled only routine business. The group had held a prior "executive session" behind closed doors to iron out the day's business and settle any possible squabbles.

'Not Enthusiastic'

Gov. George M. Leader said he was not "personnally enthusiastic" about the executive sessions, but that the "majority" of the authority members had requested them. Reporters pointed out the closed executive sessions would allow the authority to merely rubber stamp approval to previously decided action during the formal and open meeting.

The new laws involved were signed last June 21 to go into effect today with Gov. Leader proclaiming them "perhaps the most important" legislation he signed. One requires open meetings of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and the handful of state authorities. The authorities include those which spend public funds.

The laws are among 100 that become effective Sunday. Sept. 1 is the effective date of most bills passed by the Assembly which do not contain a specific starting time.

The "right-to-know" legislation was backed by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors and the United Press Editors of Pennsylvania.

Excluded from the open meetings law are all departments of state government, all commissions and various boards. Report-

New Television Station Goes on Air Tomorrow

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh television station WIIC, operating on Channel 11, was scheduled to begin broadcasting at 5 p.m. Sunday with the expectation of reaching five million viewers in four states.

Using the only 100,000-watt TV transmitter in eastern United States, the new station hoped to reach 40 counties in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland.

The new outlet, the second commercial VHF station in Pittsburgh, will carry National Broadcasting Company shows.

The introductory program Sunday will be a half hour show including invocations and benediction, introduction of announcers and other station personnel, plus a preview of programs to come. At 5:30 p.m. WIIC will join the NBC network for the program "Outlook" and the remainder of the Sunday night network schedule.

Senator Collapses In Extreme Heat

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.) collapsed in Friday's 91-degree heat while walking up a steep hill near his home.

The 69-year-old lawmaker was taken in an ambulance to George Washington University Hospital, where physicians said the heat and the long hours Chavez has been working in the windup of Congress contributed to his collapse.

Torrance Gets $270 Monthly State Pension

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Employes Retirement Board has disclosed that suspended Turnpike Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export, has been granted a lifetime pension of $270 a month.

The amount was computed on the basis of his age 69 and state service of 14 years.

The disclosure raised a point as to Torrance's status on the toll road agency. Last January he was suspended by Gov. George M. Leader, without pay, pending outcome of charges of misconduct in office and conspiracy in connection with the turnpike scandals. He and four others were convicted last July 25 after a lengthy trial.

Torrance's 10-year term expired last June 4, but technically he continues in office until a successor is "duly qualified." He has appealed the conviction in Dauphin County Court.

Police Need 'Break' to Help Solve Murder

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Allegheny County detectives say they have "exhausted" all their leads in the slaying of Wheeling gambler Nick Miller and "only a break" could lead to a solution of the case.

They said Friday they had talked "with everyone who might have been able to help" in Wheeling, but found no fresh clues.

"We're just hoping for a break" detective Ted Botula said.

Allegheny County authorites said they felt the slaying was strictly a case for Wheeling authorities. But police in the West Virginia city said it's under the jurisdiction of Allegheny County police, since the body turned up here.

In a sidelight to the bizarre case, Clement Yingling of Martins Ferry, Ohio, filed an attachment Friday against the car in which Miller's body was found. Yingling claimed Miller owed him $1,700.

Loses Ball, Chain

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—Geza Gyorey loses his ball and chain today when he marries Elizabeth Fralick at nearby Ann Arbor. Friends of the bridegroom had snapped a 16-pound ball and chain on his ankle to remind him of his added responsibilities.

Two Cars Damaged In Local Accident

Two cars were damaged, but no injuries reported, in an accident on the 300 block of Schoonmaker Ave. last night at 8:20 o'clock.

Adam Masci, 400 Oneida St., told Monessen police he had just pulled out of a parking stall when struck by a car operated by Jack Cooper, 62 Schoonmaker Ave. The rear right fender of the Masci car was damaged while the Cooper vehicle was damaged in the front and side, police said.

Queen's Critic Tells Her Just To Be Herself

LONDON (UP) — Lord Altrincham called on Queen Elizabeth today to forego her "servile clique" of court attendants and make the people happy "simply by being herself."

The young lord whose criticism of the Queen's English led to a royal uproar in Britain said he had "no intention of withdrawing or even of qualifying a single phase" of his attacks on the court.

In a 10-page reply to his critics in the National and English Review which he edits, Lord Altrincham said the Queen should think about his criticism before she leaves for her tour of the United States and Canada.

"Wherever she goes, she has the power to help people and make them happy, simply by being herself," he said.

"She does not have to pretend to be a queen; she is the Queen," Lord Altrincham said, "and the perfect modern queen is no haughty paragon, but a normal, affectionate human being, sublimated through the breadth and catholicity of her experience and indestructible magic of her office."

"She can always rely on a servile clique," he said, "to pour abuse upon the head of the most loyal and well - intentioned critic, while she is quietly making up her mind what to do and what not to do."

The tory peer reminded the Queen that he was her "humble and devoted, but frank, vigilant and by no means idolatrous servant" who had only her interests at heart.

But he added:

"Not even a queen can be infallible."

Gang of Boys Is Blamed in Lootings

Charleroi police said today that a gang of boys was responsible for a series of petty looting of automobiles in the Vesta Park area near Dunlevy recently.

The boys have been released in the custody of their parents, police said. Except for a watch and radio, nothing of real value was taken, according to the police report. Generally the looting was confined to such articles as cigarets.

Five of the boys are from Charleroi and one each from Monessen and Fairhope.

Gives President Long List of Bills; Adjourns

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Democratic congressional majorities which seldom tried to lay a glove on President Eisenhower in his first administration went to the country today with a record of trying to rough him up.

The lawmakers left more than 100 pieces of legislation for Eisenhower to act upon. The President was scheduled to work on some of it at his office today. He won't start his belated summer vacation until after the Labor Day week end.

Republican congressional minorities were still riding—over all—on the program of the President who was reelected to a second term by a landslide majority only 10 months ago. Even so, GOP individuals and blocs had cut adrift from the administration on such issues as its record peacetime budget, foreign aid program, farm policy and legislation for federal aid for school construction.

Argue Over Record

The Democratic-controlled, 1957 edition of Congress adjourned Friday afternoon until next Jan. 7. As the lawmakers departed, they were already arguing over the record which Eisenhower described last week as "tremendously disappointing."

GOP members of Congress pitched their criticism of the record on the fact that the legislative branch had failed to act on parts of the Eisenhower program and had given a good overhauling to other parts. But there was no ringing defense of specifics in the program, such as the budget, foreign aid and school programs, which drew about as much opposition from Republicans as from Democrats.

Those issues along with civil rights, tight money and inflation, and public power emerged as the political heritage of the 1957 session. On these latter issues, the Republicans find it more easy to unite behind Eisenhower.

Pass Civil Rights

Whatever was done with the Eisenhower program, the 1957 session was historic because it passed the first civil rights bill to go through Congress in 82 years. Deft management by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson enabled the Democrats to develop a kind of unity on this issue, which had divided their party for years, and to give the GOP a bloody nose.

Otherwise, Congress approved the Eisenhower Doctrine to combat Communism in the Middle East and put the United States into the world atoms-for-peace agency, a pet project of the Chief Executive.

It chopped five billion dollars or more, including a billion from his foreign aid program, from his requests for new spending authority for the current fiscal year, but with still undetermined effect on his $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

Two of the President's victories may have been on the negative side. The House pigeon-holed a public power Hells Canyon Dam bill and refused to take up legislation to revise the status of forces treaties—an outgrowth of the "Girard case."

The session saw a mounting tendency to single out Eisenhower by name for criticism. Democratic

$50 Million Tax Paid from Estate

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP) —A tax of $10,176,000 the largest single inheritance and estate levy was paid Friday by the estate of Mrs. Janet Walker McCune, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. McCune, widow of John R. McCune, former president of the Union National Bank, died Feb. 27, 1956, leaving an estate valued at $67,500,000. Her father founded the Lockhart Iron and Steel Co., McKees Rocks, Pa.

The federal government took another $39,500,000 in taxes. The remainder, $17,500,000, will be shared by Mrs. McCune's five children.

Second Most Powerful Atom Test Exploded

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UP) —Scientists fired the second most powerful atomic detonation of the summer series early today in an experiment which had to be tempered at the last minute because of weather conditions contributing to the danger of the blast.

A cloud spumed up 25,000 feet in the air above the desert floor and the heat of the blast set fires miles from ground zero on surrounding mountains.

The shot was postponed 30 minutes shortly before detonation time when scientists discovered high level winds were slightly unfavorable.

The shot had an estimated yield of 50,000 tons of TNT. It was the 15th blast to be detonated in the summer test series.

The AEC cancelled an experiment designated human research under nuclear conditions when it was learned wind conditions would waft radioactive fallout over the trenches some 2½ miles from ground zero.

The personnel scheduled to be in the trenches included four women.

Jones Brewing Workers Sign

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Latrobe and Jones Brewing companies signed two year wage contracts Friday with the United Brewery Workers (AFL-CIO), representing 200 employes of the two firms.

A spokesman for the companies said the agreements followed the pattern of contracts signed recently by the union and the Duquesne and Pittsburgh brewing companies. They provide for a 22½ cents an hour wage increase over a two-year period and other benefits.

Jones makes "Stoney's" and "Esquire" brand beers and Latrobe "Rolling Rock."

Labor Day Week End Off to Safe Start in the District

The long Labor Day week end — traditionally a time for the last automobile trip of the summer — was off to a safe and sane start in the district today.

Police reported no serious accidents as motorists apparently were heeding the pleas of safety officials to drive with caution.

Last year, 437 persons died on the nation's highways over the holiday. However no fatalities were reported in Westmoreland County and district authorities are hoping for a repeat of that record.

A variety of holiday events are scheduled in the district.

The annual Allegheny County Fair is expected to lure record turnouts to South Park.

And a large group of district Catholics of the Greek Rite plan to take part in the 23rd annual pilgrimage to Mt. Macrina at Uniontown. That religious observance will be climaxed on Monday at 2:30 p. m. by the appearance of Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, noted orator, who will preach a sermon at the Solemn Eucharistic Procession.

For sports fans, the main attraction will be auto races on Monday afternoon at Heidelberg.

All business places will be closed in Monessen on Monday. However stores will be opened the following day from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. as convenience for shoppers.

The Monessen Post Office will also close, except for the lobby. There will be no mail deliveries, but two collections will be made on the holiday.

The Charleroi office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service will be closed. Claimants who are regularly scheduled on Monday will report as instructed on their last previous visit to the office.

All offices at the City Building will be closed.

Most plants in the industrial Mon Valley plan to operate on normal schedules over the weekend.

The traffic picture at the start of the holiday was good throughout Pennsylvania.

Not a single traffic fatality was reported in the state since 6 p.m. Friday night when the National Safety Council started its weekend count of fatalities.

State police said traffic during the night was unexpectedly light in most areas.

On orders from Gov. George M. Leader, some troopers in plainclothes were assigned to patroling highways in unmarked cars in a drive to nab traffic violators endangering highway safety.

There was one drowning in the state since the holiday weekend began. James Lipsack, 13, Eddington, Pa., drowned in the treacherous Neshaminy Creek near Levittown.

River Receding from Month-long Drought

A slight rainfall this morning will have little effect on the Monongahela River which has been slowly receding as a result of a month-long drought.

A spokesman at U. S. Lock 4, Monessen, said today's early rainfall totaled only .07 of an inch, not nearly enough to have any effect on the river stage.

At present, the Monongahela is so low that boats have been required to lighten their cargo to prevent from scraping bottom.

From Aug. 18 to Aug. 26, the reading at the upper gauge at Lock 4 was 14.2 feet and at the lower gauge 10.3. That was about as low as the river has ever been measured since the locking system was installed.

On Aug. 26, a three-quarter inch rainfall in the upper parts of the Monongahela boosted the river a little. But a drought since then has dropped the waters again to the current reading of 14.3 at the upper gauge and 10.4 at the lower gauge.

Officials at Lock Four said the rainfall for the month of August amounted to .95 of an inch, far below the average. Usually, 37 inches of rain and snow are recorded during the year. Last year's total at Lock 4 was more than 50 inches.

The Weather Bureau in Pittsburgh predicted possible showers over the holiday week end ahead, with continued warm.

The drought has caused considerable trouble in nearby rural areas, drying up wells and cisterns and resulting in a sharp curtailment of the water supply.

Women of Moose To Meet Tuesday

The Belle Vernon Women of the Moose will meet next Tuesday evening in the lodge rooms for a regular session. The time of meeting has been advanced until 7 o'clock since a moving picture on cancer will be shown.

A guest speaker will also be presented during the evening. The publicity committee is in charge of arrangements for the social hour.

On Sunday members of the lodge will assist the men's lodge in serving a Hungarian goulash dinner to members and their guests. Serving will begin at 2 p. m. In the evening there will be dancing.

Major and Mrs. Clarence Booth and children, of Hampton, Va., where the former is with the U. S. Air Force, recently spent several days in Belle Vernon. They visited Mrs. Booth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schmidt of Main St. and Major Booth's mother, Mrs. Donald Kendall. They were accompanied home by a niece and nephew, Bridget Nichols and Dalvert Booth. Major Booth's brother, Dalvert and his wife, of Belle Vernon, left today to spend the week end in Virginia and bring the children home.

Virginia Daugherty of Green St. recently spent several days with Joan Madigan of Washington, Pa., a former resident of Belle Vernon. Joan accompanied her home and is visiting here with friends.

Jame DeFazio of Burbank, Calif., has returned home after visiting here with local relatives and friends. He was a guest at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Evans of Green St.

Women's Society of Methodist Church in Regular Meeting

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met on Wednesday evening in the church. The vice president, Mrs. George Ventura, conducted the session in the absence of the president, Mrs. Earl Cramer, who is ill.

Mrs. Albert Pocky opened the program with a poem, "A Prayer for Everyday Life". She also offered prayer.

Mrs. William Myers was the devotional and lesson leader. Her topic was "Visit the Mission Fields". She told of the misery and poverty in Puerto Rico and described the work of the missionaries in that area.

Mrs. Thomas Sims explained the meaning of the worship center before which the program was presented. The worship center theme was "Go Ye Into All The World and Preach the Gospel" and "Hope Looks Ahead".

Mrs Edward Morgan continued with the society's study of "Women of the Bible". She discussed "Deborah".

During the business session there were routine reports given.

The women voted a contribution of $250 to the church organ fund and a $25 contribution to mission work in Africa.

Mrs. Leonore Beazell, chairman of Christian Social Relations, reported on a trip to the United Nations being planned for WSCS members, and urged some local women to take part.

It was reported that Mrs. Florence Ames will attend a conference at Jumonville Summer Center on Sept. 7 and 8.

The society also made plans to serve light refreshments following the first quarterly conference, which will be held on Sept. 24.

Plans were also discussed for a pot luck supper to be held at the next regular meeting, the last Wednesday in September, at 6:30 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Roley, Frances Lowman and Mrs. Ventura will be hostesses. Lesson leader will be Mrs. Stewart Gaul.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by Mrs. Agnes Harn, Mrs. Lena Venneri, Mrs. Sims, Mrs. Robert Forsythe, Mrs. Thomas Gilchrist and Mrs. Shelby Ferguson.

Detroit Woman Honor Guest at Thursday Party

Mrs. Sam Tignanelli of Detroit, Mich., who has been visiting here for the past week, was guest of honor at a party held on Thursday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Pat Angelo of Green St. The affair marked Mrs. Tignanelli's silver wedding anniversary. Before her marriage she was Carrie Poli.

The guest list included many of her friends, whom she had not seen in the last 25 years.

Mrs. Andrew Kosiosky was cohostess for the affair. The time was spent in playing games, and later buffet refreshments were served. Silver and white was the color scheme used, and Patty Ann Angelo poured.

The guest of honor was presented with many gifts.

A highlight of the informal evening was the showing of old pictures taken by the guests several years ago.

Present were Mrs. Jennie Evans, Mrs. Lee Donini, Mrs. Lena Tota, Mrs. Ernestine Guiliano, Mrs. Rose Dimasi, Mrs. Elsie Guadagnino, Mrs. Unice Domenick, Mrs. Genevieve Haffner, Mrs Millie Caputo, Mrs. Edith Ambrose, Mrs. Sue Rizzutto, Jay Kosiasky, Sue Touche and Mary DeFazio.

Rotary Club to Hold Ladies Night Thursday

President Joseph Wells was in charge of the Thursday evening dinner meeting held by the Belle Vernon Rotary Club at the social rooms of the First Methodist Church.

Plans were complete for the Ladies Night next Thursday at Ray's Acres, owned by Rotarian Robert Ray. A ham dinner will be served.

A birthday party was held for the members having July and August birthday anniversaries. Those celebrating birthdays were Joseph Toteda, J. Rhodes Terney, Pete Tallerico and Glenn Anderson.

They were presented with a large decorated birthday cake, and Thomas Malpass offered greetings from the club.

Plans were also discussed for having a full attendance on Sept. 12 when the District Governor pays an official visit to the local club. The session will be the usual dinner meeting in the First Methdist Church.

Honor Guest at Baby Shower

Mrs. Donald Hutchison of Gillespie was hostess to a group of friends at a baby shower recently in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Savage, Belle Vernon.

Games provided the entertainment and the guest prize was awarded to Helen Bolchak.

Guests attended from Belle Vernon, Fayette City, Monessen, Eldora and Monongahela.

Mrs. Savage was presented with many gifts for her infant son.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Arch Gorondy, Sandra Stanley and Donna Lee Hutchison.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davison are vacationing in Florida.

Little girls seem to be "natural-born" little women, right from the start.

Laura washes for her dollies just as seriously as if she were tending a "real-life" family. She likes to bake tiny cakes and cookies too, and she has her own way of enforcing discipline when her dollies are "naughty."

Sometimes I'm amazed by her, even if I am her mother. And I am awed at the way God fashioned little girls, so that from the beginning they seem to sense that one day they will be mothers themselves.

When I take Laura to Church with me, she's such a little lady, demure and yet amazingly intent for one her age. I look at her. I see one of God's miracles, and I marvel anew. Watching a child grow is a perpetual lesson in Faith.

Sometimes after Church Laura lines her dolls up on a bench. She tells me that "the dollies are in church,"—and I don't feel in the least like chuckling at her childish antics. Rather, I am grateful.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Heavy Debts' Prompt Holdup Of Loan Office

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A remorseful steelworker, arrested a half hour after he held up a loan office, said today "heavy debts" prompted him to make his first robbery attempt.

John Koziar, 28, admitted robbing $470 from the M. F. Snyder Co.'s Hazelwood district office Friday. He said he was "desperate."

Anthony W. Piccolo, loan company manager, said Koziar posed as a customer and asked to make a loan. After a woman customer left Piccolo's office, Koziar whipped out a revolver and said, "I'm desperate." He ordered Piccolo to lay on the floor and scooped the cash from a drawer.

Richard Winkowski, assistant manager, followed Koziar to the street amd saw him speed away in a sedan. Winkowski noted the license number and called police.

Officers went to Koziar's home and talked to the suspect's wife. She said her husband had gone to pick up his pay check at the South Side plant of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Meanwhile, Koziar phoned his home and a police officer persuaded him to remain at a drug store where the call originated. Koziar was arrested a few minutes later. He said the loot "wouldn't begin to cover my debts."

Disarmament Plan Showdown Is Near

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is getting ready for an early showdown meeting with the Soviet Union on disarmament prospects, officials said today.

Harold E. Stassen, top American disarmament adviser, was reported to believe that the "official" Moscow answer to the West's 11-point disarmament plan may be forthcoming Tuesday or Wednesday.

Stassen flew home from the London disarmament meeting after Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin sharply attacked the West's "package" disarmament move. Stassen conferred at the White House with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles shortly after arriving Friday.

To Attend Wedding

He planned to go to Charlottesville, Va., today to attend the wedding of his son, Glen. But he tentatively scheduled to meet with Dulles on Monday prior to returning to London. The disarmament subcommittee meets there Tuesday afternoon.

U.S. officials said if Moscow shows any interest in Western proposals, the disarmament negotiations will continue or be recessed temporarily. They said if Moscow follows up its recent tough anti-disarmament talks, the London talks might adjourn for months.

Stassen, upon arrival in Washington, refused to give up hope. Despite Zorin's brusque and almost defiant attitude at the last London meeting on Thursday, Stassen said he still believes the Soviets are negotiating seriously on disarmament. He preferred to regard Zorin's remarks as "preliminary" pending further reaction next week after the Kremlin has studied the Western plan.

View Not Unanimous

Stassen's somewhat optimistic view is by no means unanimous in Washington. Many officials believe the Soviets are trying to end the disarmament talks as soon as they can find a way to do so gracefully. This would fit in with a general hardening of the Soviet foreign policy line on German, Middle Eastern, and other key East-West issues in addition to disarmament.

He said that unless sincere negotiating is resumed in London, the talks should be transferred to the U.N. General Assembly where the Western nations can try to expose the Soviet disarmament position.

"It seems clear that for the time being at least the Soviets have no intention of using the disarmament talks for anything but propaganda," he said.

Passes State Dental Exams

Dr. Thomas P. Dudas, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Dudas Sr. of Sixth St. has been notified that he has passed his Pennsylvania state board dental examinations.

He received his degree from the University of Pittsburgh Dental School in June. He is now a first lieutenant in the Army Dental Corps and is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He was accompanied there by his wife the former Catherine Hornak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hornak of Rostraver St.

After two years of service Doctor Dudas plans to practice with his father, Dr. J. M. Dudas Sr. and his brother Dr. J. M. Dudas Jr.

$32,095, Cashier Missing from Mt. Hope Bank

MT. HOPE, W. Va. (UP)—Police said today $32,095 in cash was missing from the vault of the Bank of Mt. Hope, whose cashier disappeared under mysterious circumstances Tuesday night.

The shortage was disclosed early today by bank examiners who entered the vault at 8:15 p.m. Friday after an automatic time mechanism opened it.

The locking device apparently had been set for the maximum 72-hour period by cashier W. G. Potter just before he dropped out of sight.

Potter, 57, an employe of the bank since 1921, disappeared along with his 1957 automobile after visiting the bank Tuesday night. He was attending a civic club meeting when he received a phone call, left almost immediately for the late hour visit to the bank and has not been seen since.

Mt. Hope Police Chief Tom T. Twaddle was notified of Potter's disappearance Wednesday and has enlisted the aid of the FBI in the search.

A check of the bank's accounts Wednesday disclosed no shortage, but the audit could not be completed until the vault opened. In the meantime, the bank operated with funds borrowed from a bank at nearby Oak Hill.

School Closing Wouldn't Halt Flu Epidemic

HARRISBURG (UP) — A state Health Department official said today the closing of public schools in the event an Asiatic flu epidemic swept Pennsylvania would be "ineffective."

Dr. W. D. Schrack Jr., director of communicable disease control, said closing of the schools would be an "administrative decision, not a Health Department order." Schrack pointed out the flu has a very short incubation period, adding that "most children would be exposed before we knew there was an epidemic."

He said if schools closed it would be because of a lack of pupils attending classes or shortage of teachers.

Mussolini Mass Is Turned into Fascist Rioting

PREDAPPIO, Italy (UP)—Veteran Fascist militiamen and young neo-Fascists today turned a requiem Mass for the late dictator Benito Mussolini into a riotous Fascist demonstration.

More than 600 Fascists broke a pledge to the government by staging a demonstration in which blackshirts, Fascist flags and slogans recalled a past most Italians were trying to forget.

An estimated 150 police had to charge repeatedly to break up the demonstration in the San Cassiano Cemetery near this Po Valley village.

Mussolini's body, handed back to his 66-year-old widow, Rachele, Friday after the state had kept it hidden for 11 years, was to be buried in the family tomb after the Mass. But the tearful widow decided to let it lie in the chapel above the tomb's crypt for another two days.

The widow, her son Romano and Mussolini's grandson, Marzio Ciano, were the only family members present at the religious service celebrated by Don Antonio Bruzzesi, a former Fascist militia chaplain.

Both the neo-Fascist Party and the local Communist mayor had pledged to refrain from demonstrations.

But early this morning, former militiamen and young members of the neo-Fascist party (MSI) converged on the cemetery. The demonstrators, many of them wearing black shirts, pressed against a 150-man police cordon as the Mass began.

Glass Dispute Proposal Today

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Federal mediator William Rose planned to make a proposal today for settlement of a wage dispute in the glass container industry if an agreement were not reached at a morning meeting.

The present contract for 2,000 moldmakers, members of the American Flint Glass Workers Union (AFL-CIO), expires midnight tonight and the workers will be free to strike.

The Glass Container Manufacturers Institute has offered a 3½ per cent wage raise this year and 2 per cent in 1958. The union has asked for 5 per cent now and 4 per cent next year.

A strike last year by the moldmakers idled 50,000 workers in the glass industry.

Congress

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W. Va.) even called him "a lousy liar."

Democrats no longer seemed to feel it was a political gamble to denounce the President.

But the political differences were forgotten in the closing hours of the congressional session as members heaped eulogies on each other. Senate Democratic Leader Johnson and GOP Leader Knowland took turns expressing their gratitude to members of both parties.

Many members of Congress won't be idle between now and January. The Senate Rackets Committee will resume its investigation Oct. 7. A total of 35 other inquiries are planned by various committees and most of them involve travel abroad or within the United States.

Former Top Reds In Wilds

MOSCOW (UP)—Vyacheslav M. Molotov and Lazar M. Kaganovich are on the way to the remote outer reaches of the Soviet sphere of influence, it was reported today.

An official announcement said Molotov, who is a former premier and foreign minister, has been assigned as ambassador to Mongolia, in the wilds between Russia and China.

At the same time, informed sources said Kaganovich — whose last government post was building materials minister—has been appointed manager of a cement factory at Asbest, on the Siberian slope of the Ural Mountains.

It had been announced earlier that Georgi M. Malenkov, who was demoted in 1955 from premier to power stations minister is now running a power plant in Kazakhstan.

Malenkov Missing

(Western observers noted, however, that there has been no mention of Malenkov's whereabouts or activities since Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev assailed him recently as a close associate of purged police boss Lavrenti P. Beria.)

Former Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov, the other principal member of the "Molotov group" which was expelled from leadership in the Kremlin last month for "anti-party" activity was last reported in a Moscow hospital.

A brief official announcement, broadcast by Radio Moscow and back-paged by today's Moscow newspapers, said Molotov will replace V. I. Pisarev as ambassador to Ulan Bator, the remote Mongolian capital. Pisarev will continue as minister counselor in the embassy.

(The Russian people were the last to hear what had happened to the man who had been one of their principal leaders for nearly 25 years. The radio report of Molotov's new assignment was broadcast to the world about 2 a.m. Moscow time, but stations inside Russia did not carry it until 7:30 a.m.)

State

ers can still be denied access to controversial hearings on protested highway routes or meetings of the Delaware Joint Toll Bridge Authority, for example.

Municipal government reporters will have a law to back up existing rights to attend council meetings, school board actions and hearings of local authorities, among others.

The other new law offers more latitude in requiring that all records of all state and local boards, commissions, authorities and departments be open. The law, primarily concerned with funds expenditures and purchases, exempts records which would show the start, progress or conclusion of an investigation or information closed by statute or court order.

Auditor General Charles C. Smith said today he will follow the open record law "to the letter" and said his department will announce every major state government expenditure before it is approved or disapproved.

"Our Commonwealth is now spending the people's money at the rate of three million dollars every day of the year for a thousand and one purposes and the taxpayers have a right to know where their money is going," Smith said.

Leader conceded the open meeting law was not as strong as it could be but said "maybe it can be improved in time." Pennsylvania is one of the few states which have such legislation.

Ethiopia Will Hold Election Tomorrow

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UP) —This ancient African kingdom's first western-style election gets underway tomorrow when voters go to the polls to choose among some 2,000 candidates they largely have never heard of.

At stake are 250 seats in the lower house of parliament, but main interest lies not so much in the results of the general election, but in the experiment itself.

A total of five million persons have qualified to vote in this country of 19-million, of whom 90 per cent are illiterate. More than 3-million already have registered.

But special problems created by the high illiteracy rate drew attention from the issues and from the candidates themselves, some of whom had to make arduous, two-day journeys back into wild hill country inhabited by half-naked tribesmen.

The government has conducted an energetic program to explain procedures of the month - long election to qualified voters.

In order to qualify, citizens must be 21-years of age, Ethiopian by birth, and must not have lost their citizenship through jail sentences or other means. Candidates must be over 25, possess more than the equivalent of $410, plus "immovable property" worth twice that amount.

The average annual per capita income in Ethiopia is about $56.

For the less than 10 per cent of voters who can read and write, the government has distributed pamphlets explaining the election set-up. For the remaining 90-odd percent, there are lectures and illustrations.

In the actual voting, ballots will have the photograph of the candidate instead of his name. Registration can be accomplished by use of a thumb print rather than a signature.

Many of the 2,000 candidates—some of whom are expected to be dropped from the rolls in the government's final sifting of applications — are unknown to their future constituents.

However, they have been tireless in their campaigns through tiny villages and remote mountain country, concentrating on local issues rather than major national and interational matters.

The 250 deputies who will take their seats in the lower house about one month from now will be elected for four-year terms. They campaigned as independents, but will form political parties once members of parliament.

Their duties will include approval of the annual budget, drafting of legislation, and ratification of treaties and royal proclamations.

National Radiator Grants Pay Boost

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A two-year contract granting a wage package increase of 35 cents an hour to 1,800 employes was signed Friday by National U. S. Radiator Company and the United Steelworkers.

The current contract expires at midnight tonight.

The company has plants at New Castle, Duncansville, Johnstown and Middletown.

Local Woman Is South Park Winner

A Monessen woman won a model railroad set valued at $100 at the Allegheny County Fair in South Park last night.

Mrs. Nellie Miller, 116 Pennsylvania Blvd., was presented the gift by the Community Relations Committee of the Pittsburgh Railroads after she had attended the group's exhibit at the fair.

Principal Asks Help From Local Parents

Monessen High School Principal Henry Furio today asked parents for their help in enforcing a rule which prohibits students from driving automobiles to school.

"This is a very serious problem which involves the safety and welfare of your children," pointed out Furio in an open letter to the parents. "We are asking you to help us help your children."

The Monessen High School principal offered these ten reasons for the no-driving policy:

"The streets around the school are not adequate to handle such large volumes of traffic at a time when they are congested with school children.

"There are not adequate parking facilities to park the automobiles.

"There are six public and parochial schools within the vicinity of the High School.

"There are approximately two thousand school children using the sidewalks and streets while on their way to and from school.

"The owner of the automobile is responsible for any liability involved.

"The School District provides transportation for those children who live a distance away from the school.

"Public bus transportation is available.

"Walking is recognized by health authorities as a good form of exercise.

"Children miss out on part of the growing up process by not walking to school.

"Under the law, school authorities have jurisdiction over school children while on their way to and from school.

Last Harness Maker Is Dead

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The last harness maker in Pittsburgh died Friday.

Alex C. Grant, 92, did a thriving business when he opened his shop on Ferry Street in 1889. Through the years his biggest competitor, the automobile, forced him to retrench to the extent that he switched to fixing ladies bags and suitcases and making dog collars. When he closed shop a year ago, it was the last harness making business in an area which at one time supported 40 such establishments.

Civil Rights Bill A Milestone

CONGRESS, after its long and tedious labor, has finally brought forth a civil rights bill.

The bill is, of course, a compromise, and its provisions are considerably weaker than President Eisenhower's original proposals. But not so much weaker, it seems, that the President cannot sign it in good conscience.

It is a civil rights bill, nonetheless, and one which deals with one of the most serious problems in this field, namely the right to vote. So we are perhaps warranted in regarding this compromise as a milestone.

The bill is almost as noteworthy for the manner in which it was passed as for what it may do to put ballots in the hands of those Negro citizens of the South who are now denied them.

Except for Senator Thurmond's futile and somewhat pitiful filibuster, the South accepted the passage of the bill. Still more significant was the fact that some highly respected Southern congressmen, like Speaker Rayburn and Senator Johnson, actually supported it.

This, we believe, is the real milestone. The South seems to be moving, although still grudgingly, towards acceptance of the equalities specified in the federal Constitution.

It is doubtful whether the compromise bill can be made fully effective in protecting the right to vote. But if experience shows that it isn't, it seems reasonable to think that the action of this Congress will make less difficult the adoption of the necessary changes.

* * *

A RECENT survey by the New York Times showed how, on another aspect of civil rights, namely racial integration of the public schools, the South is making progress now in all but five states. Even in Virginia, the report showed, some schools may be integrated before another year is out.

Those of us who would like to see the Constitution mean just what it says in every part of the country and for every citizen sometimes grow impatient when injustice persists long after it has been recognized. But we have to realize, no doubt, that when injustice becomes ingrained in the structure of a society, it cannot be made to disappear quickly. And maybe we will have to be content with progress — even slow progress.

Kefauver's New Deal

SENATOR Kefauver, who came to national prominence five or six years ago by being resolutely against organized crime, appears to have taken on a new devil, which he is calling, "administered prices". But so far, at least, he isn't going after "administered prices" with quite the penetration and thoroughness that marked his committee's investigation of crime and corruption.

On the basis of the recent testimony before the Senate subcommittee, Senator Kefauver has reached the conclusion that "when U. S. Steel raises its price, it does so with the almost certain knowledge, based on years of experience, that its so-called competitors will make the same increase."

We suspect that Senator Kefauver is right about this. But it might have been more judicious on his part to have delayed announcement of his conclusion until he had heard from some of the "so-called competitors". They are entitled to a chance, it seems to us, to show the committee if they can that they do not necessarily follow U. S. Steel's lead in setting the prices of their products.

Senator Kefauver's statement also takes no account of the part which industry-wide bargaining of wage rates and other labor costs unquestionably plays in the formulation of "administered prices". It can be shown, we believe, that the steel industry has what could accurately be termed "administered wages", and Senator Kefauver won't be doing his job as thoroughly as he should if he ignores this aspect of the problem.

There is no doubt in our mind that Senator Kefauver has taken on a real devil and one which has millions of Americans deeply concerned, perhaps as much concerned as they were about the connections between politics and crime.

But there may be more political risk for Mr. Kefauver this time. For if he goes into the subject of industry-wide bargaining and "administered wages", he is almost certainly going to offend some powerful figures in the labor movement.

He should do it nevertheless. His investigation won't be worth its salt otherwise.

New Soviet Missile Was No Surprise

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Despite their tongue-in-cheek comments, our top officials have known for three months that Russia has successfully fired an intercontinental missile about 4,500 miles from Kolguev Island in the Arctic to the Sea of Okhotsk in the northwest Pacific.

Mr. Pearson

It was a cumbersome, three-stage missile more powerful but less accurate than the Atlas which the Air Force is now readying for its second test flight at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The big 5,000-mile Atlas failed its first test last June.

Meanwhile, still more ominous news had filtered through the Iron Curtain.

1 — American agents warn that Russia will also launch an artificial satellite ahead of us. This may be shot into space as early as Sept. 17, the 100th anniversary of Konstantin Tsiolkovsky's birth. Tsiolkovsky has been publicized in Russia as the "father of space flight."

2 — The Soviets have also fired several intermediate-range missiles from ships to Arctic waters. Intelligence reports claim these sea-launched missiles were 700-mile comets and 1800-mile T2's.

Experts not Alarmed

American missile experts are not unduly alarmed over the fact that the Russians fired the first missile ever to go beyond 3,000 miles. This was probably a composite missile that we could duplicate by hooking medium-range rockets together and firing them in three or four stages.

Reports on the Soviet 4,500-mile test indicate the missile's design was more crude, its guidance system less accurate but its power plant more powerful than the Atlas.

The Air Force also doubts that the Russians have solved the problems of delivering a hydrogen warhead 4,500 miles. The Soviet H-bomb is still believed to be too bulky.

What alarms American missilemen more than the Soviet achievement is the American cutback in missile development. Top missile producers are secretly organizing a campaign against missile cuts. They will call their group the National Guided Missile Industry Conference. Russia is stepping up its missile program, they say, while we are cutting ours back.

Two Candidates for President

Scene on the Senate floor: Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas making his last speech on the civil rights debate. It climaxed a long and gruelling controversy. Lyndon rose to great oratorical heights, outdid himself in pleading for tolerance, compassion, statesmanship.

It was a good speech, given by a man who is a potential candidate for President. Unlike many other Senate speeches, it commanded attention. Every member of the Senate sat listening except one.

He was Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts, who sat at his desk autographing photographs of himself.

It so happens that Jack also is a potential candidate for President of the United States.

How to Make Headlines

Bible-quoting, acid-tongued Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma complains: "The only time I make the front pages of the big newspapers is when I say Eisenhower hasn't any brains, or when my wife's jewels are stolen."

The other day, Senator Kerr had some potent, more vital things to say at the Agriculture Department, but true to his own prediction they didn't make headlines.

In company with Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma, Harold Hutton, president of the Oklahoma Board of Agriculture, and all the congressmen from Oklahoma, he tried to see Secretary Ezra Taft Benson regarding anthrax, the terrible scourge which is destroying Oklahoma and Kansas cattle and milk.

Benson, however, was sojourning in the north woods. He had picked one of the busiest sessions of Congress, also a time when many states are suffering from desperate drought, to inspect the national forests. He and Mrs. Benson stayed in government cabins and hotels. In contrast to sweltering Washington, they chose to travel chiefly through the cool Northwest.

No Aid for Oklahoma

With Benson absent, Undersecretary of Agriculture True Morse received the Oklahomans. Senator Kerr and Governor Gary explained that Oklahoma was running out of money in combating anthrax. Cattle had to be killed and burned. They urged the Agriculture Department to help out by buying the condemned cattle and milk.

"This is something for the state," replied Undersecretary Morse. "For us to intervene would be a major departure from the usual administrative procedure."

Remarked Governor Gary: "It's about what I had expected."

Day of Rest

Today and Tomorrow—

The Competition for Asia

By WALTER LIPPMANN

There seemed to be reason for thinking that the successful testing of the ballistic missile took place some time ago, and thatt he announcement by the Soviet government was held back for political and psychological reasons. If this is indeed the case, the timing of the announcement on Tuesday was shrewdly calculated.

Mr. Lippmann

For one thing, it comes just as the London disarmament talks are about to adjourn, and it will be read all over the world as meaning that no agreement having been reached in London to arrest the race of armaments, it is now a fact that the Russians are one jump ahead in the race.

Even if, as may well be, there is a big difference between being the first to announce the successful test and being the first to produce the missile in quantity, there is no doubt that the Russians have brought off a diplomatic coup. They have identified themselves first with the idea of abolishing nuclear weapons, and then with the idea that they are superior in nuclear weapons. There are a lot of people in the world who like to be on the side of a winner.

The announcement follows closely upon the coup in Syria, and it is well calculated to support it. The Syrian affair is primarily a successful intrigue by a military faction, concerned not so much with Communism and ideology as with power and success. The news that the Soviet government is running ahead of the United States in the race of armaments will make it appear in Syria, and perhaps elsewhere in the Arab world, that the new government in Syria has bet on the right horse.

Unless it is effectively countered, we must expect this feeling to spread in South Asia and in Africa. Even before the news came out, the situation had from our point of view become soft and sour in many places, certainly in Indonesia, then in Laos, and on the longer view, most importantly of all, in India. There is ground for serious anxiety about India, where the plans of economic reconstruction are in great trouble. If the worst that could happen in India were actually to happen, we may see in South Asia what happened in East Asia when the nationalists were driven from the mainland. I do not think I am exaggerating, or being unduly alarming, when I say that there is in the making in India a kind of trouble which could make the Syrian affair seem like a minor incident.

Problems for Dulles

Mr. Dulles is almost certainly facing the most serious problems of his career. They are very complicated in their details. But the crucial question is how this country, representing the Western world, can compete successfully with the Russian and the Chinese Communists — and compete with them for the attention and interest of the rising generation of the awakened and educated Asians.

Our policies, as they have developed in recent years, have emphasized two things: One is defense against overt aggression by China or Russia; the other has been holding the loyalty of the local military men and upper bureaucrats against the penetration of the Communists. The Syrian coup is only one of many signs that the Dulles pacts and the Eisenhower Doctrine do not come to grips with the real concern of the people of Asia and Africa.

Their real concern, as they win political independence, is how to raise their standard of life, how to modernize and so to industrialize, their backward economies. It is here that the Soviet Union has the advantage of us. For the swift rise of Russia from feudalism and weakness to great power is the example that tempts all under-developed countries. The American development, impressive though it is, is not an example that the Asians can follow. Everybody knows that what happened on this empty, rich, and secure continent cannot be duplicated in crowded, poor, and insecure Asia.

India Key to Asia

It may be rash to prophecy. But in my view the future in Asia, whether it is to be Communist or not, depends on what happens in India. In India it is still possible to prove that there is a good future for the people of Asia without the desperate methods of the totalitarian state. It is still possible to prove that the Western nations are genuinely concerned with the future of Asia.

No doubt, considering the present mood of Congress about foreign aid, it seems almost silly to say that the most important move that could now be made in foreign policy would be for the Western world, with the United States playing a principal part, to underwrite and to guarantee the success of the Indian development. But if we fail to do it, the day will come when we shall reproach ourselves bitterly for having, shortsightedly and in a small spirit, missed our last best chance to make and to keep friends in Asia.

Notes and Comment—

Big Business and Its 'Communications'

By HARRY R. PORE Jr.

Earlier this month, when Roger Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel, was testifying at the steel price hearings in Washington he made an observation which I've thought about a good deal ever since.

Mr. Blough had been on the stand for two days explaining to the committee headed by Senator Kefauver why his company had raised the price of steel $6 a ton last June. His testimony included at least one lengthy prepared statement, replete with economic theory, which I took to be the definitive argument of the whole steel industry.

But the questions from the senators on the committee seemed to give Mr. Blough the idea that he wasn't getting very far. So on the third day, he made the observation to which I referred above.

"My success," he said, "in communicating with the lawmakers of this country has been almost zero."

Mr. Blough didn't enlarge on the comment, so we can't be sure whether he was applying it just to the matter at hand or whether he had generally been having trouble registering his ideas with the representatives of the people.

In either case, it seemed to me a little disturbing that the head of the largest firm in one of our basic industries should have difficulty communicating with public officials whose decisions affect the general welfare.

Unexpert Advice

I'm not sure a country editor has anything to offer that will be helpful in this predicament. But I have never run a big business, so maybe that qualifies me to tell somebody else how to do it. At least in the newspaper business some of our most cherished critics are folks who don't spend much time forward of the comic pages.

Also, I have never been a member of Congress although I'm bound to say I think I could do a better job than some people who are, mentioning no names of course. So I don't know first hand why a lawmaker wouldn't listen attentively to what the chairman of U. S. Steel had to say.

At any rate, I have a couple of theories (maybe hunches would be a more accurate term) about the relationships between big business and industry, not only with the elected representatives of the people, but with the people themselves, which includes employes and communities. And one of these hunches was fortified considerably by Mr. Blough's expression of frustration.

I think many leaders of big business are having trouble with what they call their communications because they detach themselves from intimate personal contact with the people and the communities whose confidence is importance to the welfare of the business.

No doubt it is physically impossible for the top leaders of a gigantic enterprise like U. S. Steel to live with and know personally the communities where they have responsibilities. And maybe the best they can do is to hire somebody to do what is known as a "public relations job" on these communities and the people who live in them, including the employes of the company.

But even when this job is done with great professional skill — and it often is — the effect is bound to be a pale imitation of the confidence that develops among people when they live together, work together and raise their families in a common environment.

To the extent that big business makes such contacts unfeasible, I say big business is too big for the good of the human beings who are involved in its operations. And we may have to make up our minds someday whether we want the kind of efficiency that they tell us can be achieved only through this kind of bigness; or whether we want the leaders of business to be able to make a contribution, which Mr. Blough said he does not seem to be able to make, to the formulation of public policy.

I admit that there is room for argument on this matter of bigness. For one thing, nobody has defined what a big business is, so it would be hard to get agreement on the point at which a business becomes too big for the public good. And certainly few of us want to see government messing in the matter more than necessary, big government being something of a menace itself.

Some Aloofness Unnecessary

But I'm sure of this: too many business leaders who wouldn't need to do so have withdrawn themselves and their families from the kind of identification with their employes and their communities that makes for easy and confident communications.

They are letting extraneous considerations like personal comfort and social connections keep them from becoming part of the environment where their business responsibilities are concentrated. A few years ago, for instance, an executive of one of our Valley industries told me that among the reasons he and his family chose not to live in this vicinity was that it did not have a suitable country club.

Business, big or little, must not let itself forget that human happiness should be the end product of human enterprise, including business. And a definition of business success which does not take account of this truth ought to be revised.

Business leaders who have lost touch with the people and their representatives ought to make sure that they aren't too big for their own good and for the good of the country.

Peaceful Weekend in Country Good Tonic

By JOHN H. DAY

I drove deep into the high country for a weekend far from jangling telephones and snarling traffic jams. That night, as midnight neared, I stood on a timbered mountain ridge close under the breathtaking spectacle of the gorgeous August sky show. Magically I was transported from the frenzied clamor of the world of business to the blessed peace and calm quiet of those remote ridges. Not a breath of air stirred as the star-studded pageantry wheeled by overhead.

Old friends in the luminous groups sparkled so near it seemed I could reach up and touch them. The Big Dipper was there, and the Swan, flying eternally down the Milky Way towards the Scorpion, with the great red star Antares smouldering in the middle of his back. A meteor burst suddenly across the sky in a blaze of racing light. Down near the horizon the odd flare of a comet was clearly visible.

Deep and dreamless is an outdoorsman's sleep in that bracing high country air. And fresh and wonderful is his awakening, with the sun in his eyes and the morning breeze whispering past the door to his camp, luring him to high adventure. One weekend dose of this bracing tonic is more of a lift to city-jaded spirits than all the patent nostrums yet devised.

Grourmet's Delight

There's a certain flat stretch in a certain wide stream out there where the hellgrammite has staked out claims beneath favored stones in the fast-water riffles. The smallmouth bass in this stream are well acquainted with the hellgrammite. They look on him as a sort of gourmet's delight and take him out to lunch whenever they meet him in the limpid waters.

Armed with a minnow seine and early morning ambition I waded into the rips to pick up a dozen or so of these interesting creatures. Other anglers had been there before me and most of the rocks were scoured clean, but by digging deep and turning over the whole stream bed I netted enough of the "clippers" to serve as bait for the day's fishing. Between scoops in the sweaty labor I noted the gorgeous cardinal flower in the wet margins, together with blue vervain and the monkey flower, and a tangled mass of sedges and the common summer weeds.

Cicadas sizzled in the trees all around as I rigged for bait casting by the streamside. A whole regiment of tiny azure blue butterflies fluttered about a moist spot which held some sort of attraction for them. Tiny "hop toads", just out of the water, were scrambling along the shore line. Dragon flies poised and darted above the weedy edgings, taking toll of mosquitoes and flies who got too careless.

Good Bass Bait

Selecting a promising pool I dropped the hellgrammite into the murky depths and trolled it slowly shoreward. A long fringe of moss came with it. I cleaned off the bait, cast again, and retrieved another chunk of moss. Low water and hot sun can spawn enough moss to completely choke the slow eddies in an August stream. I moved upstream where deeper water promised some weed-free casting and perhaps a solid strike.

Here the "clipper" performed as a good bass bait should. After a half dozen casts the line suddenly took off straight across the stream. I hastily stripped off more for the running bass, then tightened slowly, and as the terminal tackle came taut set the hook firmly into the jaw of a two-pound smallmouth. He made one good rush but the warm water had made him lazy and he tired rapidly. I free the hook and he dropped back into the shadowy depths of the pool.

Johnson-Moskola Nuptials Solemnized at St. Leonard

Solemnized in St. Leonard Roman Catholic Church last Saturday, Aug. 24, was the marriage of Lois June Johnson and Jack Moskola. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Louise Johnson of 20 Schoonmaker Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Moskola of 15 East Schoonmaker Ave.

Double ring vows were exchanged at 7 o'clock in the evening with the Rev. Martin O'Toole officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Alson Roy, of Fayette City. She wore a street length dress in a pale melon shade. It was styled with a lace bodice, round neckline and brief sleeves. The skirt was styled with two side panels of lace and a front and back panel of crystallete. She wore a matching cap style headpiece with a short veil and carried white orchids.

Mrs. Marilyn Cantini of Monessen was matron of honor. She selected a dress of mauve crystalette styled along princess lines with a deep round neckline and a pleated panel down the front of the full skirt.

Best man was Joseph Garafola, Monessen.

Mothers Attend

Mrs. Johnson, mother of the bride, wore a dress of poudre blue lace with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Moskola chose a dress of navy blue with matching accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a trip to Virginia Beach. When they return they plan to reside at the Johnson home.

The new Mrs. Moskola wore a raspberry colored ensemble for traveling and a white orchid corsage.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Monessen High School. The bride is employed as an operator for the Bell Telephone Co. in the Charleroi office. The bridegroom works at the Irvin Works in Clairton.

Croatian Ladies Auxiliary Will Hold Meeting

A regular meeting of the American Croatian Ladies Auxiliary will be held on Wednesday evening, Sept. 4, at 8 o'clock in the hall.

Handkerchiefs will be presented to members attending the meeting, and observing September birthdays.

Final plans will be discussed for a public card party to be held on Sept. 16 at the Croatian Hall.

Refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Anne Chulig.

Fall Banquet To Open Year For Junior Club

Plans have been completed for the opening of the 1957-58 club year for the Monessen Junior Women's Club. Mrs. John R. McGovern will be assuming her office as president.

Activities will begin with the annual fall banquet to be held on Tuesday, Sept. 10, at Johnson's restaurant with serving at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Joseph M. Dudas Jr., immediate past president of the organization, will act as toastmaster. Invocation will be by Dolores Curcio.

Mrs. Robert P. Gilotty, vice president and program chairman, will review the programs planned for the year.

Highlighting the evening will be the guest speaker, Miss Gloria Abdou. Popular in Pittsburgh theatrical, radio and television circles and a teacher at the Pittburgh Playhouse, Miss Abdou will speak on some of her activities. She is well known to a number of the local girls having served as a judge in this year's Miss Mon Valley contest, which was sponsored by the local club.

The program committee is in charge of the meeting. It includes Mrs. Gilotty, Mrs. Herman Mihalich, Mrs. Adeline Dzak, Irene Sovich, Mrs. Theodore Krause and Cathy Frederick.

WSCS Conference Study Session Planned Here

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Pittsburgh Conference has announced plans for a series of study seminars in September, and one has been scheduled for the local church.

The meetings will be under the leadership of the district officers of the Women's Society.

The schedule of meetings is: Pittsburgh-61 churches, Sept. 10, Methodist Center, Pittsburgh; Allegheny-89 churches, Sept 11, Methodist Center, Pittsburgh; Washington-110 churches, Sept. 12, Jefferson Avenue Methodist Church, Washington; Blairsville-97 churches, Sept. 18, Indiana Methodist Church and McKeesport-108 churches, Sept. 19 at the First Methodist Church of Monessen.

Sunshine Club Entertained at Monessen Home

Mrs. Steve Pokomo of Ross St., Monessen, was hostess to members of the Sunhine Club at her home on Wednesday evening.

Cards were the diversion and those winning high score awards were Mrs. Pokomo, Mrs. James Piper and Mrs. Dino Forlini.

Others present were Mrs. Ermin Huhra, Mrs. Anthony Shemony, Mrs. Edward Petrus, Mrs. Adam Koday and Mrs. Albert Koday.

Luncheon was served, and plans were made to meet at the home of Mrs. Petrus in Donora on Sept. 11.

BON Card Club Honors Member At Baby Shower

Members of the BON Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Ann Kuzemka of Donora on Tuesday evening.

Cards were played and high score winners were Julia Chubran, Ann Kuzemka and Helen Sellaro.

Luncheon was served after play. Mrs. Millie Krupa was then honored at a surprise baby shower and was presented with many gifts.

On Sept. 10 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Verdean Ostapowicz.

LOCALS

Cub Pack 7 sponsored by Trinity Episcopal Church held an outdoor meeting at City Park on Thursday evening. It was a corn roast under the direction of John Pollack, assistant cubmaster, and several of the fathers. There was no business meeting. In September the group will meet at Trinity Parish House and the date will be announced.

Mrs. Theda B. Nickeson of Charleroi fell and suffered a broken hip at her home and has been removed to the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. She is in room 268. Her daughter, Theda M. Nickeson makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Crum of Monessen.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Duran and son, of Coudersport, Pa., are visiting in Monessen over this weekend. The Durans are former Monessen residents, Mr. Duran at one time serving as an alderman.

A meeting of the executive board of the Monessen Junior Women's Club will be held on Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs John R. McGovern on Athalia Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKita and sons have moved from their residence on Delaware St. to their newly built home at Pleasant Valley Terrace, Fisher Heights.

Robert Cosner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cosner of Monessen has been admitted to the Monongahela Memorial Hospital to undergo a tonsilectomy.

St. Mary Church Choir will sing the responses to the 10 a. m. mass tomorrow morning. All members are asked to be present at 9:45.

Language in Albania falls into three categories, literary Albanian and the dialects Gheg in the north and Tosk in the south.

WED IN MONONGAHELA — Mr. and Mrs. G. Edwin Matheny exchanged their nuptial vows in the Christian Church of Monongahela on Saturday, Aug. 24, at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Raymond Walls officiated. Mrs Matheny is the former Doris Ann Laughland, daughter of James Laughland of Webster. She is a nurse at Monongahela Memorial Hospital. Mr. Matheny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Matheny of Monongahela, is employed in the Charleroi office of the West Penn Power Co.

Area Teacher, Bride-elect of Brownsville Man

Mr. and Mrs. Sol Kronemer of Fisher Heights, Monongahela R. D., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Alvera, to Bernard Moskovitz. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Moskovitz of Brownsville.

Miss Kronemer is a graduate of Charleroi High School and Slippery Rock State Teachers College. She did graduate work at Pennsylvania State University and is currently employed as the physical education teacher at Marion Junior High School in Washington Twp.

Mr. Moskovitz, a veteran of the Korean War, was graduated from Brownsville High School and Washington and Jefferson College. He is now a student at the University of Pittsburgh Dental School.

County Council Will Convene In Ligonier

The Westmoreland County Council of Christian Education will hold the county-wide convention in the United Brethren Church in Ligonier on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 11 and 12.

A leadership and planning program has been arranged. The two day program will include morning, afternoon and evening sessions for both men and women.

The Rev. Chauncey J. Varner of the State Youth Council will be one of the principal speakers. His theme will be "The Sunday School Hour-Used or Misused". Mr. Varner will also lead the youth conference during the sessions.

Polish Women's Alliance Will Have Convention

Mrs. Florence Kapp, state president of the Polish Women's Alliance of America, has announced a state convention of Western Pennsylvania to be held tomorrow at Donora.

The St. Hedwig Society Group 248 of the Alliance will be the host group. This organizatoin will also celebrate its 40th anniversary at this time.

There will be a solemn high mass at the Holy Name of Mary Church of Donora at 10 a. m. with the Rev. Joseph Forysiak as celebrant.

The convention will conclude with a banquet at St. Dominic Social Center at 6 p. m. The guest speaker will be Adela Logodzinska, national president of the Polish Women's Alliance of America, who recently returned from a tour of Poland.

Buffet Supper On Labor Day At Country Club

The final event of the summer season will be held for members and guests at the Monongahela Valley Country Club on Monday evening at 6 o'clock. It will be another of the popular buffet suppers.

In charge will be Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Truax of Country Club road and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boardmen of Monongahela are co-chairmen.

Serving will continue through the evening, which will be an informal one.

ON THE BALL

'Had High Hopes for Thiry' – Janosik

"I'm naturally sorry to see him go for I had high hopes for the boy," that's Monessen High cage coach Frank adds, "The boy has to make a home somewhere played freshman ball here last year but has registered at Charleroi for the coming school term . . . The story of Thiry being orphaned does not need repeating but as as Frank adds, "The boy has to make home somewhere and it was a tough decision, he's a victim of circumstances." . . . You got that feeling talking to Frank about the boy that he was looking forward to working with Thiry and watching the progress of the development that Janosik started last season . . . By the way, Charleroi sources are just as excited over Thiry playing football as they are over his basketball potential.

Buck Henry, who fights for Dr. Harold Rosenbloom of Charleroi, but resides here had quite a rooting section at Jeannette Thursday night when Lou Kichinko, Bill 'Killer' Cain, Ed Nasal and Joe Judge, all of the Grand Hotel, which Buck now calls home, took in the bout. Witty Kichinko says, "Buck had four real rooters and one of them a JUDGE." . . . Wow! . . . Pittsburgh's Wilf Greaves disappointed in his bout at Jeannette. His newly discovered KO punch didn't "explode" and Greaves dropped the decision . . . The Brownsville Horton softball team competed in the recent World Tournament of Softball at New Bedford, Ill., and although eliminated made a fine showing . . . New Kensington really has the long and short of it on its football team. Dan Coury goes 6-4 and weighs 212 pounds, while teammate Pat Foley is 5-2 and weighs a mere 110.

Boudreau's Name Linked with Bucs

Latest name to be linked with the Pittsburgh Pirate managerial post is Lou Boudreau, recently deposed pilot of the Kansas City Athletics. Considerable sentiment is building up down Pittsburgh way, however, to give Danny Murtaugh, the current interim manager, a full-time chance . . . Considering the improved play of the Bucs of late the latter suggestion has merit . . . Speaking of baseball, how about the terrific Mon Valley League series between New Eagle and Charleroi? . . . That New Eagle team was really a surprise as they kept extending Charleroi despite losing Lou Sepe, their clutch player and having Gene Uhlman hobbled with an arm injury. Frank Furiga can certainly get the most out of a team.

Lost in the excitement of Jay Peake winning the national archery title was the accomplishment of Monessen archer Lou Tatsch, who made a good showing in the meet in which Jay won the title . . . Lou is no slouch with the Robin Hood armament . . . Despite bowing out of the PONY League World Series the Donora PONY All-Star team deserves a hand for a job well done and the same goes for the managers of the downriver team . . . It was wonderful that the Valley team would play their winning game in the tournament the night Donora's favorite son, Stan Musial, was on hand at the series . . . In fact, that night Chuckie Guiffrida hurled a one-hitter. Stan had a couple of nephews on the Donora team.

Jimmy Chacko Not in CHS Grid Plans

Charleroi has lost another player who would undoubtedly have helped Coach Rab Currie this season. He is standout sophomore end of last season Jimmy Chacko, who reportedly was going to be shifted to halfback this year. He hasn't reported for drills as yet and Coach Currie says, "Since he hasn't reported, we have to presume he will not be out and are not considering him in our plans for this season." . . . Chacko reportedly is suffering a bone chip in his leg . . . It has also been rumored he favors a baseball career . . . Hempfield Joint High School, a new Monessen foe this season will hold a football clinic for the parents of the members of the Jointer football team with Coach Bill Abraham and his staff demonstrating equipment, explaining rules and plays, etc. Scott High did the same thing recently.

Today's Sports Parade—

Fraley Proves Adage All Can't Be Athletes

By OSCAR FRALEY

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (UP)—The news today, fellow spectators, is that we can't all be athletes.

This point has been driven home, rather painfully, by a muscular monster named Jimmy Caesar. Jimmy is a blue-eyed Comanche from Oklahoma who doesn't like to see people resting what laughingly are called their muscles.

What it amounts to is that Jimmy has improved on the ancient wigwam hobby of burning people at the stake.

Caesar, to give you the complete fill-in, has more of a past than the lady who was known as Lou. He has been, more or less in order, a stakes-winnning jockey, a Golden Gloves boxing champ, an Olympic diver (the latter two having no connection in this case), a hockey player, speed skater, ice show headliner, actor, stunt man, aqua show star, physical education instructor and a diving coach.

Currently he is doubling in brass as swimming and trampoline coach at the plush and polished El Embajador Hotel here in the Dominican Republic. As such, he is the only jarring note in an otherwise serene vacation mecca.

"You must," he said, flexing more muscles than a burlesque chorus line, "try the trampoline."

This, it might be explained, is a sort of canvas bedspring gadget which works on the same principle as a midget being tossed in a blanket.

It must be conceded that I am built somewhat more like Lou Costello than Victor Mature, but I'll try anything once if the price is right. This was free, and, unfortunately, I tried it more than once under the Indian torturer with the Roman name.

Won Suburban Handicap

"Anybody can do this," Caesar said as he bounced me higher into the air than I like to be without an airplane, "Meanwhile, I'll tell you how I rode the winner of the Suburban Handicap in 1925 under the riding name of J. Browning.

"Well, almost anybody can do it," he corrected himself, brushing pieces of concrete off my knees and elbows. "The idea is to stay on the trampoline. Now try it again, and I'll tell you how I skated with Sonja Henie, or maybe how I won the Golden Gloves at Chicago in 1933."

He didn't seem much interested in the fact that his paleface victim, after too much sun and too much trampoline, was one-half burnt orange and one-half black and blue. But Old Fearless did have the last word.

'Hounds to Battle With Lion 11

"We're gradually rounding into shape and beginning to look like a ball club but I'll know more about them after this morning's scrimmage session with Greensburg," Coach Armand Niccolai of the Monessen High Greyhounds reported this morning.

Despite the rain and probably muddy field, Niccolai planned on sending his lads against Bobby Williams' squad around 10 o'clock this morning.

As to his starters Nick stated he wouldn't be sure until they took the field although he was certain about several positions, at least for a "try".

"We'll have Paul Tobacco, my 'handyman' shifting to end to team with Dennis O'Toole, he said. Tobacco, a senior, goes 160. O'Toole, also a senior goes 165 but neither are exceptionally tall, Paul at 5-10, Dennis 6-0.

Niccolai also said he would alternate Dan Barton, 160-pound senior holdover at quarterback with Carl Payne, 165-pound junior. "Both have been throwing well," stated the 'Hound coach.

Andy Carollo, 170-pound sophomore fullback candidate will get the nod there in the absence of Carl Rattay who is still nursing an injury.

Right halfback Joe Karbowsky has returned to drills after being sidelined with an injury, so he'll undoubtedly see considerable action.

"Today will help tell the story of how much progress we've made in the first two weeks of drills," added the Greyhound mentor.

British 'Walkers' Within Point of Yankee Team

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP) — Great Britain's Walker Cup golf team, within one point of the American squad after Scotch foursomes, staked its hopes for a second victory in the 16 international matches on top performances from its stars in singles played today.

Non-playing captain Gerald Micklem, named the 1957 British Amateur champion, Reid Jack, to play against America's Billy Joe Patton, unbeaten in three Walker Cup appearances, in today's number one match. Both Jack and Patton were in victorious pairs Friday as the Americans won two of the alternate shot foursomes, the British took one and one was halved for a 2-1 American lead.

In today's number two match, Joseph B. Carr, the 1953 British Amateur title holder, who, with Frank W. G. Deighton, was beaten by Hatton and Rex Baxter Friday, 2-1, will meet Billy Campbell, also a winner Friday. Campbell paired with Frank Taylor to take a 4-3 win over Phillip Scrutton and Alan Bussell.

Jack was paired with Alan Sewell Friday and gained a one-up win over Arnold Blum and Charlie Kocsis, while in the fourth match, the British pair of Guy Wolsterholme and Alec Shepperson won six of the last 12 holes to overcome a 5-up advantage held by Hillman Robbins and Mason Rudolph and finish with a halve.

Both Blum and Kocsis were sent to the sidelines today by captain Charlie Coe of the American team, and Joe Campbell and Bill Hyndman, who sat out the foursome play, were named to compete. Micklem omitted Shepperson from the singles list and put in Alan Thirlwell, who will play Baxter in today's number three match.

Steeler Game On Tape Monday

Baseball and football fans who feared there might be somewhat of a mixup when KDKA broadcasts the Pirate and Steeler games, being played simultaneously on Monday can breathe easily now.

KDKA officials yesterday said it would be handled like this: The Pirate doubleheader at New York will get underway at 1:30 o'clock and both games will be broadcast. The Steelers will be playing the Eagles at Philadelphia and that game, to be announced by Joe Tucker, will be taped in Pittsburgh and will be put on the air as soon as the Pirate games are over.

The first Pirate game will be telecast by KDKA-TV.

Small Squad at Perry But Six Vets Report

(This is the fourth in a series of round-up articles on Valley grid teams. More will follow in the next three weeks, prior to the opening games on September 13 and 14. Monessen will be covered in daily stories here.)

Perry-Lower Tyrone High School's 1957 defending Fayette County Class B football titlists, have their work cut out for them this season but with only 23 candidates reporting for early drills.

Fortunately for Coach Don Mains, and his staff of Henry DiVirgilio, Jim Newmyer and Ed Yeash, six veterans are among those reporting the past two weeks.

Two ends, a tackle, a center and a pair of halfbacks are included among the veterans returning for another year of competition.

The linemen nucleus of this year's team includes ends Mike Kurutz and Ron Coldren, tackle Tom Bateman and center Ellsworth Cottom.

The backfield holdovers are experienced Chauncey Chambers and Bob Piersol.

Mains tabs the 1957 Commodores as slower, slighter and with fewer reserves than the 195 unit.

Saturday, Sept. 14, the Commodores open the campaign at home with Bap Manzini's Bellmar Hurricanes supplying the opposition.

Competing with veterans Kurutz and Coldren for starting end spots are Charles Cuppett and Tom Shetterly.

A pair of tackle aspirants are supporting Bateman. They are John Bednar and Joe Schrock.

Guards candidates include Julian Shoaf, Frank Steck, Ron Kavulick and Jim Matsko.

Battling with veteran Cottom for a starting role at the center is Rocco Quaranto.

Quarterback hopefuls are Don Coldren and Len Swiantek.

Behind Piersol and Chambers at halfback are Wayne King, Vince Komacko and John Statzula.

A trio of aspirants are fighting for the No. 1 fullback job. They are John Russell, Paul Cernuska and Edmund Lawrence.

The Red and White was defeated by Bellmar, 20-6, and Snowden, 13-6, last year. Victories were posted at the expense of Ellsworth, Point Marion, Bentleyville, West Newton, East Huntingdon, South Huntingdon and Masontown.

The 1957 schedule shows the same clubs appearing against the Perry club with the exception of Bentleyville replaced by Centerville.

Althea on Last Leg of 'Grand Slam' Dream

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — Althea Gibson of New York set out today on the final leg of an "impossible" dream that began years ago in a Harlem tenement house — a grand slam of Wimbledon and U.S. tennis championships.

The 30-year-old Negro star, the toast of Wimbledon two months ago, opens her bid for the American crown as a heavy favorite over glamorous Karol Fageros of Miami on the second day of formful first round play on the perfect turf at the West Side Tennis Club.

Althea, runner-up last year to Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla., is regarded as a shoo-in to win the crown and become the first of her race to win a U.S. singles championship on turf.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper of Australia, Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., shoot for berths in the second round of men's singles reached Friday by a host of favorites including Dick Savitt, of South Orange, N.J., Ham Richardson of Westfield, N.J. Neale Fraser and Mal Anderson of Australia and Sven Davidson of Sweden.

Team Races at Heidelberg on Labor Day Night

The annual Labor Day team races — when the Pittsburgh district drivers oppose a field of selected track champions from outside the district — will be held Monday night, 8:30 .m., at Heidelberg Raceway.

For two years the Pittsburgh Racing Assn. drivers have met the challenge of the visiting drivers and both times the PRA emerged victorious.

While in 1955 and last year most of the visiting drivers were from Ohio, the challenging field this year includes track champions from Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia as well as Ohio. Then too, champions from other tracks within Pennsylvania but outside the Pittsburgh district also are entered.

From the Penn-Western circuit, tracks around Altoona and Johnstown, will come Bobby Gregory, Johnstown; Harold Goden, Boswell; Fuzzy Rubritz, Johnstown; Don Kimberling, Tyrone; Bunk Korzen, Donegal; and Ben Smeal, Johnstown.

Rick Bauman of Ambridge, standout driver at Green Valley, will represent that area.

Then there will be Dean Mast, Canfield (O.) champion; Mike Bice, Debo (O.) champion; Harry Carmichael, Moundsville, (W. Zanesville (O.) champion and Bob Perrine of Gary, Ind., who won the 300-lap championship race at Raceway Park, Chicago this season.

Charleroi Wins '57 MVL Championship, Tops NewEagle, 4-2

Vlanich Bests Leach; 'Big' Sixth Stops Furiga 'Cinderella' Entry

It's all over but the shouting in the Mon Valley Baseball League for 1957 and Charleroi will be making all the noise.

The Merchants looked forward to a pleasant holiday weekend today with the Mon Valley League crown tucked safely away following a 4-2 victory over New Eagle last night at New Eagel's field in the sixth game of the seven-game series.

Adam Vlanich was the surpirse hurling choice for Charleroi and came through in top fashion to best Jess Leach, one of the mainstays of the hurling staff for the down-river team.

A "big" sixth inning spelled the difference fot Charleroi with four hits and two miscues in the field by New Eagle's Fred Cox, playing an unfamiliar shortstop post instead of his usual second-base or backstop positions, accounting for the runs.

Lead Until Sixth

The Furigamen took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on two walks, a sacrifice and a single by Joe Necceai and held the margin until the sixth. Cox then did all he could to make up for the errors in the top half of the sixth by clouting a round-tripper in the bottom half of the frame but the 4-2 count was still on the board when the game ended. Cox also doubled earlier in the game but his mates couldn't get him around.

Paul Lazzari, Nick Mahalko and George Zuraw had two hits apiece to pace Charleroi while Necciai and Leach had two safe blows for the losers, one of Leach's clouts going for two bases.

New Eagle just missed a bid for the "Cinderella" team honors such as Charleroi accomplished two years ago. Frank Furiga's team finished fourth in the regular season play after an up-hill struggle and then erased Fayette City, '57 pennant winners in the playoffs plus extending Charleroi to the next to last game of the title series before bowing. Charleroi had finished second in the regular season ahead of Perryopolis.

Texans Crowned 1957 Champions Of PONY League

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Lufkin, Tex., undefeated in four series contests, won the PONY League World Series Friday night with a 5-2 victory over Maywood, Ill.

Lufkin pitcher Jerry Register smashed a tie-breaking home run in the fifth inning. The pitcher-slugger hit a total of five round-trippers during the series to set a new record. The 10 home runs chalked up in the series by his team also was a record.

Lufkin took the lead in the second when Dennis Marshalls ingled, stole second and scored on Hayden Russell's single.

Maywood came back with a run in the fourth and Lufkin countered with a tally in their half of the inning on Ed Tucker's double and Jerry Bates' single.

Maywood tied it again in their part of the fifth and then Register hit his home run when the Texans came to bat.

Lufkin scored again in the fifth on a double by Ron Davis and Russell's single. Billy Karra homered in the sixth for the final Lufkin run.

Parker Views Steelers For Initial Time

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers concentrated on pass defense and offense Friday as Buddy Parker watched his charges in action for the first time since taking over as head coach.

Parker has asked former coach Walt Kiesling to handle the team in the game Monday with the Philadelphia Eagles and in the practice sessions leading up to the contest at Philadelphia.

Parker said the Steelers' No. 1 draft choice, Len Dawson, looked good in practice but he wanted to see him "under fire" before forming a decision.

Latecomer Ernie Stautner arrived in camp Friday in good physical shape. He took part in both morning and afternoon drills and said he was ready for defensive guard action against the Eagles. Stautner, whose drive-in theater business keeps him occupied until Labor Day, is a perennial latecomer.

The Steelers fly to Philadelphia Sunday.

Soccer Season Openers Sunday

The 1957-58 soccer season gets underway Sunday when Heidelberg and Castle Shannon meet in a exhibition game at 5 o'clock at the Castle Shannon field.

Castle Shannon finished second to Harmarville in the Keystone League last year, and Heidelberg was fifth in the league standings. The regular Keystone League season gets underway September 29.

Morgan Probably Out for Season

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Big Tom Morgan, who has been a creditable performer in relief for the Kansas City Athletics, probably will not play again this season.

The club reported that Morgan injured an ankle Thursday night while getting out of his automobile in a hotel parking lot.

Softball Series Suggested Here

A letter to The Daily Independent sports desk this morning from a group of "rabid" local softball fans agitates for a soft ball series to determine the "real" valley champion.

The letter, received too late to appear in "On The Ball", suggests a best-of-three series between the Cro-Ams and Monessen CIO softballers (of the Tri County League) or a five game set between the Cro-Ams and Monongahela, TCSL champs. "The games could be played next week before the high school pigskin season gets underway," the letter states.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Deep Grass Shots

When you're faced with a short shot from deep grass, you must get the ball quickly up and out of the grass. The more the ball is made to travel through the grass before emerging, the harder it is to judge the amount of power to be applied.

With that in mind, always take a deeply lofted club for a chip from deep grass. My choice is the pitching wedge. This applies whether there is a bunker or other obstacle to be pitched over or not.

The proper stroke here is a right-hand blow, struck firmly and crisply. Make the grip a little extra firm in the right hand. Take a shorter backswing than you would for the same shot from shorter grass. This shorter backswing will make for a firm downswing. Be firm! If you're loose with the stroke, the heavy grass will turn your club.

For necessary and quick height, hit down and through the ball. Don't try to help the ball up with faulty hand action. Trust the loft of the clubface to get he ball up.

Bosox Call Up Seal

BOSTON (UP)—Ken Aspromonte, whose .331 average was leading the Pacific Coast League's San Francisco Seals, has been called up by the Boston Red Sox. The Brooklyn-born second - baseman will report to the Red Sox for their Labor Day double - header with the Washington Senators.

Sanford, Phils Edge Bucs, 4-3

Jack Posts Most Wins; Groat HRs

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Rookie right-hander Jack Sanford became the pitcher with the most wins in the national league Friday night, as he hurled the Phils to a 4-3 edge over the Pittsburgh Pirates for his 17th victory.

The Phils got off to an early start with two runs in the first inning and lone tallies in the next two innings with what proved to be the winning run coming in the third when Stan Lopata walked, took second on an infield out, and scored on Gran Hammer's double.

In the first frame, the Phils got two runs when Lopata doubled home Rip Repulski and Hamner hit a sacrifice with bases loaded. They picked another in the second on Sanford's single, Richie Ashburn's double and single by Repulski.

The Bucs scored two in the third when Roberto Clemente tripled Bill Virdon walked and Dick Groat hit a sacrifice fly. Bob Skinner walked and Frank Thomas singled Virdon home.

Pittsburgh collected their third run in the fifth on Dick Groat's seventh homer of the season.

West Wins, 20-0; Pottios East Star

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Right halfback Ronnie Hartline of Lawton, Okla., and quarterback Bob Conrad of Marianna, Fla., combined forces Friday night to lead the West to a 20-0 victory over the East in the 10th annual All-America high school football game.

The East, relying on the power running of fullback Myron Pottois, of Van Voorhis, Pa., was hampered by fumbles and pass interceptions.

One drive, in the second period, ended on the three-yard line—the big West line stopping the East backs four times inside the five.

Stickel to Head BV K of C Bowlers

The Belle Vernon Council 3026 of the Knights of Columbus have organized a Bowling League comprised of four teams.

Ken Stickel has been elected commissioner of the league and he announced that Bowling will be each Thursday evening at 9:30 p. m. at the North Belle Vernon Alleys on Broad Avenue.

Stickel will release the rosters of the teams and the League schedule within the next several days.

Mantle Can Pass Williams Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — Mickey Mantle, only 2-5ths of a point behind Ted Williams in their battle for the American League batting title, gets an opportunity to take over the leadership tonight when he faces Russ Kemmerer of Washington.

Mantle, who has hit some of his longest wallops off Senator pitchers, collected his 34th homer and two singles off Chuck Stobbs and Bud Byerly Friday to raise his batting average to .3764.

Williams celebrated his 39th birthday Friday night, but managed only one infield hit in five trips against Baltimore as his average dipped to .3768. He faces Skinny Brown of the Orioles tonight.

Here's how Williams and Mantle compare:

	G.	AB	R.	H.	Pct.
Williams	119	398	87	150	.3768
Mantle	128	433	115	163	.3764

Yanks Seek Advance

DUISBERG, Germany (UP) — United States oarsmen counted on victories in the repechage (second chance) today to advance into the finals of the European rowing championships. The Detroit Rowing Club's coxless fours placed second in their first heat Friday while Thomas Donough of the U.S. was second in the single sculls.

Dupas Decisions Johnny Busso

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Young Ralph Dupas added a 66th victory to his impressive ring record Friday night against Johnny Busso and demanded today to know "what the heck I've got to do" to get a title fight with lightweight champion Joe Brown.

"I've been around almost seven years. I've got a good record. I'm supposed to be second-ranked contender. What have I gotta do to get a crack at the title?" the 21-year-old New Orleans boxer asked.

Dupas, who has fought 80 times since he took to the ring in his teens, had several bad moments but weathered Friday night's 10-round television bout against hard - punching Busso, of New York, with only a scratch. He won the bout in the Miami Beach Auditorium unanimously.

There were no knockdowns, but there were several close calls after Dupas got going in the fourth round, roaring off the ropes where he was tagged with a stunning left to angrily pump a withering series of rights and lefts at Busso's head.

Buick Super Is Roomy Car and Has Many Other New Features

You could pay $1500 — and more — over the price of the 1957 Buick Super and still now get as much interior room!

The fact is pointed out at Mon Valley Motors, Inc., 252 East Donner avenue, Buick sales and service in Monessen and this area.

Any Buick has room for six man-sized adults. Not four, not five — but six.

Any '57 Buick has hatroom. Headroom. Shoulder room. Hiproom. Legroom. And especially footroom for six full-fledged grownups — including the folks in the middle.

But if it's really room you want — stretch-out, spread-out, lounge-around room — then you ought to look into our extra-spacious '57 Buick Super.

As we said in big bold print, you can pay lots more without matching this beauty for room — but that's only the beginning:

This is a performance car, too. The performance car of the year. A car like nothing you've ever driven til now.

Nothing else ever gave you the tingle you feel when that big engine comes to life — when today's Dynaflow digs in — when that ride paves the road — when those brakes stop you flat as a plane on a flight deck.

And no other car in the world ever gave you this delicious sense of making mass and weight and motion eat right out of your hand.

Go try it and see for yourself. Visit your Buick dealer today. You're in for a dream of a buy on America's dream car to drive — and that's a fact.

No other car has all these new features:

Vertical-vale V8 engine with the "powerpack" built right in at no extra cost.

Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow gives unsurpassed smoothness plus new instant response even without switching the pitch.

Powerful new brakes give surer, quicker, straight-line stops to match Buick's new performance.

Cradled bodies with sleek new lowness and full headroom and legroom.

Low-sweep styling in the finest Buick tradition.

Wide-frame chassis with new rigidity, new low gravity-center gives superb roadability and full road clearance.

Full-length drop-center torque tube drive braces rear-end assembly, imparts ride stability, enables use of soft coil springs at rear wheels.

Ball-joint front suspension provides easier steering, surer cornering, levelized stops.

Super-panoramic windshield has up to 200 square inches added for safer vision.

New "nested" ride — never before so smooth, soft, buoyant.

—Plus over 150 other sparkling new features.

New 'Sky Chief' Gas at Bart's Peps Those Cars

NEW SHIRLEY ... ...

Now during late Summer and early Fall vacation time you'll want to have that automobile serviced properly, particularly before you take a trip.

You'll be playing it smart to drive to Bart's Texaco Service station, official AAA station at the corner of Third and Schoonmaker in Monessen, and having them give it a Marfak lubrication job, new Havoline oil in the crankcase and then a tankful of that new "Sky Chief" gasoline.

Try this new gas, by all means. Get a tankful of that new Texaco Sky Chief Supreme gasoline which engineers say is the finest performing gasoline you can buy today!

Su-preme in economy, gasoline Octane is up, away up! Costly platinum catalysts, millions of dollars invested in new refining methods and equipment, make the difference. So — you are assured of all the knock-free power your engine, new or old, can deliver!

Su-preme volatility! Quicker starts, faster warm-ups, smoother get - aways! Plus — protection against stalling and vapor lock. Sky Chief is the only premium gasoline 100 per cent Climate-Controlled — to give you Su-preme performance — wherever you fill up in all 48 states.

Su-preme power-longer engine life! Petrox, Texaco's exclusive petroleum base additive, prevents engine wear. It reduces harmful, power-stealing engine wear and deposits — extends engine life as much as 60 per cent.

Su-preme in economy, gasoline mileage! You can get as much as 39 extra gasoline miles with every tankful (based on a 10,500-miles-a-year driving average). So fill up with the best — New Sky Chief Su-preme — at your Texaco Dealer, the best friend your car has ever had.

New Sky Chief Su-preme — with Petrox — is designed for all cars on the road in 1957 — new and old. It satisfies the increased octane appetite, and meets the critical requirements of the newest, higher-powered, higher - compressioned engines. And — it adds power and life to all engines by protecting them against harmful engine wear and deposits.

Russians Choice In World Games

PARIS (UP) — The World University Games begin today with Russians favored to capture more than half of the track and field titles at stake.

Galina Zybina, holder of the women's world shot put record, and Maria Itkina, who has a 400-meter run clocking of 54.6 seconds up for recognition as a world record, are expected to lead the Soviet girls to a 10-event sweep. Yuri Stepanov, who recently high-jumped 7 feet, 1.2 inches, heads the Soviet men's team.

The Americans have only a "token" team of six in the nine-day meet—Ira Murchison of Chicago, co-holder of the world 100 - meter dash record; Jerry Welbourn, Columbus, Ohio pole vaulter; Ernie Shelton, Los Angeles high jumper; Lang Stanley, Los Angeles middle distance runner; sprinter Mildred Mathews, and Darlene Brown, Los Angeles discus and shot put performer.

Redlegs Largest Contributors To Braves' Pennant Bid Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN

It ain't exactly cricket, but the pennant - bound Milwaukee Braves may be strongly tempted to vote their Cincinnati "cousins" a sizeable World Series slice when they sit down to cut the melon about a month from now.

No club in the National League has contributed more to the Braves present seven - game lead than the Redlegs, who have lost 15 out of 17 to Milwaukee so far this season.

Every pennant-winner generally has its favorite "patsy." Last year, for example, the Dodgers made the Cubs and Cardinals their No. 1 "whipping boys" by taking 16 out of 22 games from each. And over in the American League, the Yankees licked Kansas City 18 out of 22 and have beaten the A's 17 times out of 20 this year.

Four-Homer Barrage

The Braves used a barrage of four home runs Friday night in defeating the Redlegs for the eighth straight time, 9-5. Eddie Mathews, Carl Sawatski, Frank Torre and Wes Covington each homered for Milwaukee as southpaw Warren Spahn notched his 17th victory.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, still nursing an outside chance, humbled the Giants, 10-0, while the Cardinals defeated the Cubs, 2-1, and rookie Jack Sanford of the Phillies beat the Pirates, 4-3, for his 17th triumph.

Kansas City dimmed the White Sox flickering pennant hopes a bit more over in the American League when Alex Kellner stopped Chicago, 3-1. Boston rolled over Baltimore, 8-1. Cleveland scored a 10-inning, 6-5 victory over Detroit, and Washington stopped the Yankees, 4-2.

Drysdale Defeats Giants

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers defeated the Giants for the seventh time in two seasons when he stopped them on three hits. Charley Neal got the Brooks off to a three-run jump in the second when he homered with two on.

Del Ennis' ninth-inning sacrifice fly scored Wally Moon with the winning run in St. Louis' victory over Chicago. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell struck out 11 batters in gaining his sixth victory.

Granny Hamner drove in two of Philadelphia's four runs, including what proved to be the winning run with a fourth - inning double. Sanford held the Pirates to eight hits, one of which was Dick Groat's seventh homer of the season in the fifth inning.

Kellner struck out eight White Sox batters and yielded only six hits to beat Bob Keegan for his sixth victory. The Athletics gave Kellner enough margin when they scored two runs in the third inning. It was the White Sox' fourth straight setback and left them 6½ games behind the Yankees.

Red Sox Whip Orioles

Bob Porterfield of the Red Sox pitched a six-hitter over the Orioles and was aided to his fourth victory by Jackie Jensen's two-run homer. Ted Williams, celebrating his 39th birthday, managed only one hit in five trips and his batting average dipped to .3768, merely 2-5th of a percentage point higher than Mickey Mantle's.

Mantle collected his 34th homer and two singles but they weren't enough to keep Bobby Shantz from suffering his fourth setback. The Senators routed Shantz with a three-run rally in the fifth.

Al Smith's double in the 10th inning scored Vic Wertz with the run that gave the Indians their triumph over the Tigers. Detroit tied the score at 4-4 in the ninth on Charley Maxwell's 22nd homer with one on and then went ahead with a run in the 10th. But three hits, a walk and a sacrifice enabled the Tribe to come back with two runs in their half of the 10th.

Here's Boxscore Between Congress And President

WASHINGTON (UP)—Boxscore on how President Eisenhower fared with Congress this year:

Civil rights: Asked for four-point program to "reinforce" civil rights. Got a bill principally confined to voting rights.

School construction: Asked federal aid to states for school construction. Killed in House.

Immigration: Asked broad changes including residence for 28,000 Hungarian refugees. Got "hardship" bill with no provision for Hungarians.

Budget: Asked appropriations totaling $73,300,000,000. Got about $68,400,000,000.

Foreign aid Asked $3,800,000,000 in new fund Got $2,768,760,000.

Defense budget: Asked $36,100,000,000. Got $33,700,000,000.

Doctrine: Asked approval of Eisenhower Doctrine to deal with Middle East troubles. Got delayed endorsement.

Postal rates: Asked hefty hike in postal rates. Got bill for 527-million-dollar increase through House, but Senate shelved at least until next year.

Excise taxes: Asked one-year extension. Got it.

Natural gas: Asked for legislation easing controls on natural gas producers. Got no final action by either house.

Statehood: Asked admission of Hawaii and Alaska to the Union. Got no action by either house.

Doctor Mad at Church; Tosses Rocks at Window

NEW YORK (UP) — A family doctor from Pleasantville, N.Y., flung four rocks at a stained-glass window in St. Patrick's Cathedral Friday because the Roman Catholic church refused to block the marriage of his daughter.

Dr. Joseph A. Porcello, 51, admitted carrying the stones in his doctor's bag the 25 miles, from his home and hurling them at the window, police said.

His "gesture of protest" against the church's refusal to stop the wedding of his daughter, Claire, 19, to her former high school English teacher, Frank Peters, 30, failed to harm the window.

It also failed to stop the marriage. The wedding took place at 11 a.m., as scheduled, and while Porcello was being arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge, the couple set off on their honeymoon.

Porcello pleaded guilty to the disorderly conduct charge and was released on parole until Sept. 13, when he will be sentenced in magistrate's court.

French Poodle Falls into Lake; Causes Uproar

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (UP)—Mimi made quite a splash here Friday but everyone concerned wishes she had learned to swim.

Mimi, a French poodle, was frolicking with her 8 - year - old master, Dennis Moloy, when she fell into Beaver Lake.

The boy's mother saw what had happened and flagged down a passing motorist, J. A. Bishop. Bishop, a sailor stationed at the naval reserve training center here, plunged in to the rescue.

Bishop was unable to reach the struggling dog and started back to shore. Halfway back, Bishop ran out of breath and yelled for help.

Ralph Young of Asheville, saw the commotion from his car and went to rescue Bishop. He got the sailor to shore and then started back for Mimi who was about to go down for the third time.

When Young reached Mimi, he was too tired to swim back. More calls for help.

John G. Penland of Asheville, jumped into a boat but could not find a paddle. Stretching out in the boat, he used his hands to paddle slowly toward Mimi and Young.

Penland and Young got the dog into the boat and then Penland pulled Young aboard.

Everybody finally made it to shore.

HEART DISEASE PROBABLY HAS NOT INCREASED . . .

The increasing number of reports of heart disorders as a cause of death has been brought about by the success of medicine. Many persons who formerly might have died of other diseases now live long and useful lives—eventually to succumb to a failing heart which has performed its lifetime of duty.

Therefore—as we grow older, the care of the heart must be considered in our every activity. Have regular check-ups by your Doctor, and follow his guidance carefully. He probably can help to keep your heart functioning for many extra years of buoyant and happy life. Whenever medication is required, we will be happy to have you bring your prescriptions to this Pharmacy.

Patty Camino Honor Guest at Bridal Shower

A pre-nuptial shower was held on Wed., Aug. 28, at the Elks Club in Charleroi for Patty Camino. Hostesses were Donna Santmyer and Ellen Fulton.

Mrs. Ruth Conrad served as mistress of ceremonies for the games which were won by Mrs. Marian Mascara, Mrs. Beverly Speer, Mrs. Mary Pasqua, Mrs. Josephine Fayak, Mrs. Helen Beatty, Sheilah Davis, Mrs. Thelma Fulton, and Cassie Lee.

The door prize was won by Georganne Fulton.

A white and pink color scheme was carried out with a huge umbrella at the gift table.

There were 55 persons present from Monessen, Charleroi, Belle Vernon, Smithton and West Newton. They brought a large number of gifts.

Poultry Prize Goes To Pricedale Man

Officials of the Rostraver Twp. Fair, which concluded its 15th annual showing this week, today announced that Carl Beato, of Pricedale, took first place in the poultry judging.

Other special awards were won by:

Ronald Fisher, Monessen; Charles Lamhan, Fellsburg; Lora Cousin, Monessen; Sara Pekonen, Belle Vernon; Mrs. Winfield, Monessen.

Southerners Blame Thurmond For Filibuster

WASHINGTON (UP)—Southern Democrats blamed talkathon champion Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) today for a renewed drive to tighten Senate rules against filibusters.

They said fear that such a move would be started was one of the reasons they did not try to talk the civil rights bill to death.

Before Congress went home Friday, five Senate Democrats and six Republicans made a joint announcement that they would try their utmost to get the Senate regulations changed to make it easier to limit debate through a cloture rule.

They said that the 24-hour talkathon of Thurmond against the civil rights bill demonstrated clearly the need for a stricter cloture rule.

But Thurmond, 1948 states rights candidate for president, showed no regrets for his record solo filibuster. He said that he conscientiously believed it was his duty to dramatically focus public attention on opposition arguments to the legislation.

Fort Pitt Brewery President Dies

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Michael Berardino, 63, director of Fort Pitt Industries and prominent in the brewing industry for more than 40 years, died at his nearby Fox Chapel home Friday night.

Berardino was president of the Fort Pitt Brewing Co., which became part of Fort Pitt Industries this year.

He was a past president of the Pennsylvania Brewers Association.

Christian Education Council in Meeting

The Rostraver Christian Education Council will meet next Tuesday at Fells Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m.

Plans for the coming release-time Christian Education Classes will be completed. The election of a dean for the school and the selection of other officers will be the main item of business.

A special planning committee will submit a report. All churches in the township are urged to have their pastor and representatives present.

Guest speaker at the Pricedale Union Church on Sunday at 11 a. m. will be Paul Switzer. There will be no evening service.

Ladies Auxiliary Holds Card Party

The Ladies Hungarian Auxiliary of Pricedale held a card party on Monday at the Hungarian Hall.

Prizes were won by Beth Domankas, first; Mrs. Tomick, second; and Mrs. Kara, third.

Euchre winners were Ann Toth, first; and Margaret Rabaci, second.

Hostesses were Irene Ferencz, Christine Drotor and Kay Caputo.

Because of Labor Day, no card party will be held on Sept. 2. Instead the event will be staged on Sept. 9. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Connell, of Webster, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jugan, Norfolk, Va. Charles will soon leave for Cuba.

In Hollywood—

Yoga Helps Figure of Actress

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Olivia de-Havilland, back in cinema city for the first time in two years, credits yoga for keeping her slim, trim and beautiful.

The two-time Oscar winner, now living in Paris, specializes in standing on her head.

"That's why I feel so wonderful," she said.

O. de-Haviland

"I know nothing about yoga philosophy, but the exercises keep me in shape. I practice them every day at home — starting with the lotus position and working up to standing on my head."

The actress, usually a shy individual, startled nearby diners in the Brown Derby with a series of undulating breathing drills.

Pressing her hands on her midsection, Olivia said, "now watch. You start here and breathe upward through the chest and shoulders"

The demonstration looked for all the world like a woman having trouble with a tight corset.

"It's all based on breathing, circulation and relaxation of muscles and joints," she smiled. "No portion of the body goes unexercised.

"I stand on my head brilliantly. I even do the lotus position while in a headstand — with my derriere in the air. Must look awfully funny to people who aren't used to yoga."

Olivia went on to say that many French women indulge in yoga. She was introduced to the cult by her husband, French journalist Pierre Galante.

She has adapted herself to Parisian life in other ways. The star speaks French fluently, wears Dior clothes and has become an expert on Gallic foods and wines.

"Twice a week I spend 45 minutes with Madame Vidal. She is my yoga instructor," the brown-eyed actress said. "I asked her to recommend a yogi for me over here, but she didn't know any in Hollywood."

World of Television—

Chicago Police Force Wants no TV Credit

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Chicago's police force comes in for a share of TV glory next month when a new video show gives Windy City cops the same glamour treatment accorded Los Angeles and San Francisco gendarmes.

Jack Webb started the trend seven years ago with "Dragnet." Then San Francisco moved into the act with "Lineup", a story of the boys in blue by the Golden Gate.

The newcomer is "M Squad," an NBC effort proving the worthiness of Chicagoland's constabulary. But there's one gigantic hitch.

Chicago cops want no part of it!

Unlike Los Angeles and San Francisco, they refuse to cooperate with the TV people. The stories do not come from "actual police files," and the chief won't even loan the television folk a patrol car for realism.

Threatened With Jail

What's more, the cast and crew of "M Squad" are threatened with being jugged if they clutter up the streets with equipment or cause traffic jams.

"Makes it kinda hard to film our backgrounds there," says Lee Marvin, hero of the new series.

"We've been shooting in the suburbs so far — sneaking into downtown Chicago only when we think it's safe. The boys in the outlying districts are more friendly about television."

Why are Chicago policemen camera-shy?

According to Marvin, the story goes back to 1953 when Republic Studios invaded the Loop to film "City That Never Sleeps." The cops were delighted to help out. The studio's every wish was granted — after all here was a movie showing the police force in fearless action.

An Expose

"When the picture was premiered it turned out to be an 'expose' of Chicago cops," Marvin sighed. "For some reason this embittered them toward movie cameras.

"I dread going back there, but we can't escape it. They treated us as if we were planning to poison the city water system."

"M Squad" — and nobody seems to know what the "M" stands for —makes its debut Sept. 20.

"There'll always be a market for crime shows," Lee concluded confidently. "And after our opening program maybe the boys in Chicago will realize we're not going to make 'em look bad.

Your Health—

Medical Field Is Spreading

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Push-button first aid is here. This is one of the new medical developments I would like to discuss today in our monthly review of medicine.

Development of a spray - on bandage probably will make it lot easier to dress certain minor cuts, burns, scrapes and bruises of your youngsters.

Actually, it is a sterile dressing that dries in a few moments into a protective transparent film. It contains an antibiotic, tyrothricin, which scientists say combats the spread of infection seven times faster than penicillin.

Not only is the spray-on bandage flexible, but it rinses off in warm water. That means no more worry about ripping off adhesive tape.

There are two new developments in the cancer picture.

One is the report by two Albany, N. Y., doctors that laboratory examination of sputum frequently can give an early indication of lung cancer.

Cough and expectoration are common in adults as a result of chronic irritation due to smoking, chronic bronchitis, or acute pulmonary infection. It might be a good idea for those of you bothered with such troubles to have sputum examined for cancer cells.

While this test cannot always establish a definite diagnosis, the doctors report that it can indicate the need for further study with more specialized techniques.

The other development involves the ability to destroy the function of a hormone without surgical removal of the gland that manufactures it.

The hormone studied was TSH (Thyroid-Stimulating hormone), the substance produced by the pituitary which causes thyroid growth and manufacture of thyroid hormone.

Administration of chemically altered acetylated TSH to a few persons with widespread thyroid cancer resulted in a decrease in the cancer size and softening of the cancerous masses.

It's one more step in our never-ending struggle to beat cancer. But at this time, acetylated TSH should not be considered a treatment for cancer.

Hollywood Stars May Be Called To the Stand

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Maureen O'Hara, Corinne Calvet and Mae est are among the cast of Hollywood stars who may be called for their greatest real - life performances next week when the smut trial of Confidential magazine resumes after Labor Day.

The prosecution hints, but will not confirm, that it stands ready to call any or all of these footlight queens to he sand — plus some other big names—in its attempt to prove that Confidential lied when it paraded their alleged "sex-capades" in its pages.

Confidential and hisper magazines and its agents are accused of criminal libel and conspiracy to print obscenity.

Dep. Dist. Atty. William L. Ritzi says he will call as rebuttal witnesses next week "some substantial peronalitie . . . I think I can promie you plenty of action."

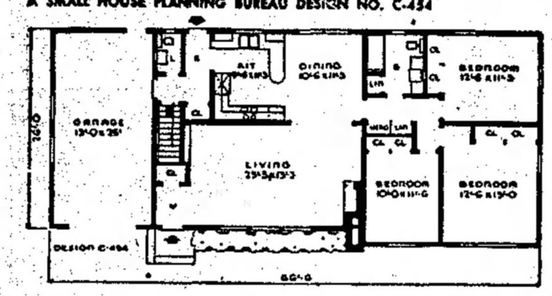
A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-454



DESIGN C-454. Centering around the rear entry is the convenient kitchen, a clean-up lavatory, and a large coat closet. The entry affords direct access to full basement, attached garage and rear yard. The spacious shaped living and dining room can be divided by means of a folding door.

There are three full bedrooms with wardrobe type closets, bathroom with linen cabinet and built-in lavatory, additional linen storage and housekeeping closet in the hall. Exterior of vertical siding features projecting fireplace wall and planter. Floor area is 1413 sq. ft. and contains 23,314 cu. ft. not including the garage.

For further information about DESIGN C-454, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Health Hazards Are Described by Expert

Various health hazards which may be present in plumbing systems, urban or rural, were described in an address by F. M. Dawson, dean of the College of Engineering, State University of Iowa. Dawson, who is a technical consultant for the National Association of Plumbing Contractors, spoke at the 75th annual convention of the Association in Dallas, Texas, June 13.

"Americans return from abroad with the comfortable feeling that in the United States we are fully protected against epidemics that are the result of impure water and the improper disposal of waste," Dawson said.

"It may be a relief to come home, but sadly enough we are not as safe as we suppose. Danger from contaminated water, inadequately installed, or unsafe plumbing, is still a threat, even in this age of colored fixtures. This danger may be a result of the higher standard of living and advanced technology of which we are so proud.

"The numerous automatic garbage dispposals and dishwashers in the American housewife's dream kitchen and other technological improvements require higher standard in the disposal of household and industrial waste. When viewed in the light of increases in population and industry, the need of a plumbing code to promote and then preserve higher standards of plumbing is quite obvious.

"The usual habitat of many disease organisms is water, and as we all know impure water is the source of tragic epidemics if typhoid, amoebic dysentery, and undulant fever. Since water for public consumption is now generally chlorinated, aerated, and in other ways made safe, the source of contamination can be traced to plumbing. Back siphonage and cross connections which allow waste water to be sucked into the drinking supply consititute a real but often unrecognized danger to public health. The expense of filtration and sterilization is for naught when purified water is contaminated within the plumbing system."

A plumbing code which insists upon the correct installation and inspection of plumbing fixtures would safeguard public health and prevent the loss of money and many hours in combating epidemics and purifying water which is only to be corrupted by improper plumbing, Dean Dawson declared.

"One phase of plumbing of importance is in rural and suburban homes. Only a few years ago, it was reasonable to assure that rural plumbing affected, at the most, small isolated communities or individual scattered farms. Sanitation was more or less a private matter.

"The present day exodus of people from the cities to the rural communities, both as visitors escaping the tensions of city life, and as settlers wanting to make their homes in the country, makes it imperative that rural sanitary plumbing regulations be more effectively enforced.

"The private plumbing system is potentially a weak point even though it has been properly installed. Among the most common hazards are: (1) open septic tanks (2) raw sewage outlets into ditches and gullies, (3) inadequate sterilization of private wells, (4) poor plumbing around barns, septic tanks, toilets and incoming water supply, (5) unvented water heaters, (6) lack of temperature and pressure relief devices.

Tools so small they are invisible to the unaided eye are used in biology.

Building Permits Total $511,915

Permits for more than a half-million dollars worth of building were issued by the city of Monessen during June and July.

City Clerk Francis Crum said today that 49 building permits were issued during the two months for construction valued at $511,915.

Two commercial permits were issued; one in the amount of $50,000 to the Adamsburg Real Estate for the construction of the new Prudential offical on Grand Blvd., and the other to Robert McKelvie, 106 E. Schoonmaker Ave. for $6,000.

About 83 per cent of present U. S. coal output moves to market by rail.

Don't Always Need Best Lumber Grade

You don't always need to buy the very best grade of lumber, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association reminds the general public.

Sometimes it is smart to buy a few pieces of the low cost economy grades of Douglas fir or west coast hemlock. By cutting out a few knots, it is often possible to get sufficient clear lumber for most home repair jobs, at a real saving.

Noise Barrier Is Suggestion Here

Do you have noisy neighbors whose children seem ever to be shouting? Then, here's an idea for a noise barrier.

A high-board fence will do the job most effectively. It can be built in estate style to give character with a one by four inch cap along the top.

You can install some decorative multi-colored panel ornaments along your side to break the monotony of a long solid wall of wood.
